

Solons Bid Last Goodbye To Sen. Dirksen Of Illinois

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen's body was borne from the Capitol today, beginning a final journey to burial on the Illinois prairie.

Military pallbearers carried the casket, with its blanket of fern and roses, from the Capitol rotunda at noon.

Dirksen's Senate colleagues stood at the top of the steps, beneath the portico of the Capitol, as the Rev. Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, the Senate chaplain, led the funeral procession.

The Dirksen family waited in two black limousines in the Capitol plaza. The casket was placed in the hearse, and the procession pulled away.

After funeral services at National Presbyterian Church, Dirksen's body is to be flown home to Illinois Thursday.

The Senate recessed for the Dirksen funeral, and most of its members went to the church.

The Dirksen family and a group of friends are to fly with the body to Peoria, Ill., Thursday. The trip will be made aboard Air Force One, President Nixon's plane.

Dirksen, who died Sunday at 73. Will be buried in Pekin, Ill. The formal service in which the Senate bade farewell to Dirksen Tuesday was simple—no guns were fired in salute, no drums were played.

"He was an outspoken partisan, he was an individualist of the first rank," Nixon said of the man who had served the Republican party, his state and his nation under four Presidents.

"Everett Dirksen added a grace and eloquence and courtliness to the word 'politician,'" Nixon added. "That is how he became leader of the minority."

His eulogy over, the President shook hands with Mrs. Dirksen and the Dirksens' daughter and her husband, Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn. Sen. Baker gave a brief response in which he called Dirksen a realist as well as an idealist.

Dirksen's heart failed Sunday, five days after he underwent surgery for lung cancer.

At one end of Dirksen's coffin was a wreath of red, white and blue flowers placed by the President. On the sides were huge wreaths from the House and Senate. An honor guard, representing all the military services, stood a 24-hour watch.

83 Persons Killed In Indianapolis Airliner Tragedy

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) —

An air traffic controller said today a small plane that sheared off the tail of an Allegheny Airlines DC9 jetliner Tuesday, plunging 83 persons to their deaths, was invisible to the radar at Weir Cook Municipal Airport where the big aircraft was preparing to land.

"The big plane showed on the screen, but not the small plane," said Jack H. Frets, public affairs officer for the Indianapolis Air Route Control Center.

"This is not uncommon when a plane does not have a transponder or beacon, a device which reflects the radar beams," Frets said.

He added, however, that the radar reflectivity of aircraft also is affected by such things as weather, altitude and the attitude of highly streamlined planes. Visibility was about five miles in partly cloudy skies.

Both planes tumbled to earth after the collision, and the collection of fragments of bodies and debris from a soybean field continued today.

Eyewitnesses said the single-engine Piper Cherokee, piloted by 35-year-old Robert W. Carey of Indianapolis on a solo cross country flight, knifed into a passenger plane's tail section where its two jet engines are located.

All 78 passengers and the crew of four on the jetliner, as well as Carey, an Indianapolis plumber and father of six, were killed.

The jetliner, which began its flight at Boston, had touched down at Baltimore and Cincinnati and was scheduled to stop at the Indianapolis airport before going on to St. Louis.

"It was near perfect weather," said John Shaffer, one of a team of 16 investigators from the Federal Aviation Administration. "It's almost inconceivable that the two planes were at the same spot at the same time."

The aerial collision occurred near London, a community of 300 about 10 miles southeast of Indianapolis.

Most of the wreckage of the DC9 airliner landed in a soybean field 100 yards from a mobile home park where many of the 150 residents watched with terror as the severed fuselage of the jet whistled toward them.

Bodies, wreckage and luggage fell from the sky.

Airport controllers said the jet disappeared from a radar screen as it dropped from 6,000 feet to 2,500 feet in its landing approach.

Hurricane Gerda Slips Into Canada

HALIFAX, N.S. (AP) — Hurricane Gerda moved inland over Quebec province today after lashing the Canadian Maritime provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia with rain and winds of up to 80 miles an hour and causing damage that so far appeared to be minor.

As she barreled up the Atlantic coast Tuesday, Gerda brushed New England with 50 m.p.h. winds before moving over Grand Manan Island, off the southwest coast of New Brunswick. Four inches of rain fell in Portland, Maine, and two inches at Eastport. But the center of the storm did not hit the U.S. coast.

Nova Scotia's south shore bore the brunt of the storm, which tore down telephone and power lines, uprooted trees and disrupted shipping and airline schedules.

The International Tuna Cup competition for fishing vessels was suspended until the sea calmed. The ferry, Blunose, between Bar Harbor, Maine, and Yarmouth, was kept in port.

Power failures put wide sections of Nova Scotia in darkness. It was not known immediately how the province's $3 million apple crop fared.

Judge To Inspect Stark, Medina Jails

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — U.S. District Judge Thomas D. Lambros says he will visit the Stark and Medina county jails next week to determine if it is possible to house some federal prisoners there.

The judge, who started an investigation of conditions at the Cuyahoga County jail here last week, said Tuesday, that overcrowding is the main problem.

More Heavy Israeli Raids Coming, Dayan Tells Egypt

More Troop Cuts Hinted For Vietnam

Speculation Follows Meet Among Leaders

SAIGON (AP) — Meetings today between top-level U.S. and South Vietnamese officials touched off speculation of further American troop withdrawals and an extended scaling down of allied military operations.

There was also speculation that the United States had sounded out North Vietnam about continuing the three-day cease-fire the Viet Cong declared for the funeral of North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh.

The cease-fire, which U.S. forces honored, was scheduled to expire at 1 a.m. Thursday, or 1 p.m. EDT today.

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, met with President Nguyen Van Thieu before flying to Washington for the conference that President Nixon will hold Friday with his top military and diplomatic advisers on Vietnam.

Unconfirmed reports said Abrams is prepared to accept withdrawal of 35,000 more troops, which would reduce American troop strength in the country to about 475,000 men.

Acting U.S. Ambassador Samuel D. Berger also met separately with Thieu.

Berger and Abrams presumably were trying to close the widening rift between Washington and Saigon on the cease-fire.

The U.S. Command tacitly accepted the truce and sharply curtailed its offensive operations including bomb raids. But Thieu publicly rejected a cease-fire, and his forces increased their military operations. There was no indication, however, that they were killing any of the enemy.

U.S. sources say that if the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese do not step up their present low level of activity after the end of the cease-fire, American forces likely will respond by continuing the curtailment in their offensive operations.

As evidence of the rift between the United States and its Vietnamese ally, field reports said the U.S. Command was refusing to provide helicopters, artillery and bombers to support some of the South Vietnamese operations that continued despite the cease-fire.

Woman Faces Drug Charges

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 23-year-old girl arrested by police Sept. 1 after she skipped a $20,000 bond on drug charges two years ago has been bound to the grand jury on five narcotics charges.

Barbara Ann Dobranic pleaded innocent to the charges in Municipal Court Tuesday and waived preliminary hearing. Her bond was set at $35,000.

Miss Dobranic is also wanted in Valentine, Neb., for skipping bond there on drug charges after she had jumped her Columbus bond.

DEDICATE MEXICAN BORDER DAM — President Nixon and Mexico's President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz meet today to dedicate the Amistad Dam near Del Rio, Tex., as Mrs. Nixon and Mrs. Ordaz applaud. The cost of the $80 million dam, located on the Rio Grande River, is being split between the U.S. and Mexico.

Record Utility Rate Hikes Asked By Private Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's consumers will pay in excess of a billion dollars more each year in gas, electricity and telephone bills if state commissions approve all rate increases currently sought by private utilities.

This figure—based on a compilation by Senate researchers—represents a record volume of rate hike applications by privately owned utilities.

The Senate's Government Operations Committee said a total of $961,160,565 in gas, electric and telephone rate increases were pending before the 50 state utility regulating commissions as of June 1.

Not included in this total, it said, are a number of substantial rate increase applications, including one for a $117.5 million rate increase by Consolidated Edison of New York and a $45 million proposed boost by Commonwealth Edison of Chicago.

The rate application figures, Senate staffers pointed out, also do not include some $218 million in rate-increase requests now before the FCC and the Federal Power Commission.

The state figures—on a utility-by-utility basis—break down this way: Proposed electric rate increases, $317.4 million; gas, $175.7 million; telephone, $468 million.

The Senate committee has held 21 days of hearings this summer on a bill, sponsored principally by Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., to provide more public information on utility operations and to create a federally financed staff of experts to represent consumer interests in rate cases.

The committee said as of June 1, only eight states and Puerto Rico had no requests for utility rate increases.

These were some of the largest rate applications as of June 1: New York, $198.3 million; Michigan, $188 million; California, $155.7 million; and Missouri, $73.5 million.

Tuesday, in unprecedented action, the Federal Communications Commission took a step toward matching what the Metcalf bill would write into law.

It appointed a lawyer and an economist to watch out for consumer interests in rate negotiations with the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., which has been criticized for its closed-to-the-public format.

Solons Fight Atom Carrier After Losing C5A Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy's request for a new nuclear-powered aircraft carrier was under fire today from senators undaunted by an overwhelming defeat in their attempt to delay production of the C5A supercarrier plane.

Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., have called up their amendment to slice $377.1 million for the carrier out of the $20 billion military procurement authorization bill.

The amendment would prevent the Pentagon from going ahead on the carrier pending a review by the General Accounting Office of anticipated costs and the need for carriers in an age of nuclear missiles.

This was the same approach used unsuccessfully Monday against the C5A.

Sen. John C. Stennis, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, already has attacked the carrier amendment.

"In voting on this amendment we may make a vital and crucial decision as to whether we will have an effective naval air arm in the late 1970s and 1980s," said the Mississippi Democrat.

Backers of the Pentagon picked up the support of a number of senators who favor a reduction in U.S. overseas forces Tuesday to defeat Sen. William Proxmire's amendment to slash $533 million for the C5A from the bill. The amendment lost 64-23.

Sens. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and Stuart Symington, D-Mo., were among those who contended that more C5As will give the United States the capacity to ferry more troops and equipment overseas quickly, thus reducing the need to station so many soldiers on foreign soil.

But Proxmire, D-Wis., won approval by a 90-0 vote of another amendment. It is designed to prevent conflicts of interest among military officers or civilian officials who leave the Pentagon to go to work for defense contractors, and officials of large firms who go to work for the Pentagon.

It would require public disclosure of such connections for three years after the switch is made. Consultants would also be covered.

Akron Tax Boost Gains Approval

150 Arabs Die In Lightning Raid Tuesday

TEL AVIV (AP)—Israeli jets pounded Egyptian army vehicles at Ras Abu Darg and Ras Za'afra in Egypt today at the same points across the Gulf of Suez hit by Israeli armored columns the day before, the army announced.

The terse announcement said Israel planes hit Egyptian army vehicles at both points along the gulf 39 and 55 miles south of Port Suez which is at the southern end of the Suez Canal.

The jets struck in the morning and all returned safely to base, the spokesman said.

Tuesday's raid by Israeli armored forces, backed by jets and naval vessels, was the largest amphibious operation into Egypt since the six-day war of 1967. Israel said 100-150 Egyptians were killed.

The Israelis roamed along a 30-mile stretch of the coast, apparently without major Egyptian resistance.

The 10-hour operation, the first by Israeli armored units in Egypt, was described by Defense Minister Moshe Dayan as a demonstration of operational ability "almost unprecedented in military history." He warned of "even heavier strikes" across the Gulf in the wake of alleged Egyptian violations of the cease-fire.

The Israeli war hero said the amphibious raid by Israeli infantry and tank forces was "one of the most daring" since the six-day war of June 1967. He said the Israeli troops displayed "an operational ability almost unprecedented in military history."

Israel said the commando force crossed the Gulf of Suez about 2 a.m. and landed near El Hasayer, about 28 miles south of the Suez Canal.

The force moved southward for 30 miles and met little or no resistance as it "attacked guard posts, army camps, radar stations, military vehicles and military encampments." An Israeli spokesman said. Then the commandos and their vehicles were picked up and returned across the gulf to Sinai Desert posts. (Continued on Page 2)

See Record Ohio Roll On Welfare

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Public Welfare reported today that a record number of Ohioans are receiving Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) payments in August.

The report also noted that expansion of the state's welfare programs during the first eight months of 1969 is slower than recorded in 1968.

Welfare Director Denver Whit reported that ADC participation fell off from a previous May 1969 high during June and July but jumped to a record of 249,291 persons in August.

August statistics, however, showed that assistance checks were going to 63,551 families, less than were recorded in May.

In addition, growth of the ADC program in Ohio from December 1968 to August of this year is 11,338 persons, fewer than the 15,582 new recipients added to the rolls during the same period last year, the report said.

White said plentiful employment during June and July may have caused the mid-summer drop in ADC applicants.

Columbus Blaze Fatal To Woman

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A fire which firemen said apparently started from a cigarette caused the death early today of a 66-year-old woman who was baby-sitting with her four grandchildren.

Firemen identified the victim as Mrs. Mamie F. Dismukes who lived with her daughter. One of the children awakened and ran for help. None of the children was injured.

Moon Rocks Show Orb Had Torrid Birth, Quick Death

SPACE CENTER, Houston

(AP) — The moon went through violent and torrid pains of birth and early infancy about the same time as the earth, but then it died and became "a very quiet, peaceful place," scientists at the Lunar Receiving Laboratory believe.

This conclusion, based on examinations of rocks and dust returned to earth by Apollo 11, was revealed in interviews as the scientists prepared to release some of the lunar material Friday to other scientists for further study.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration will officially announce its findings on the moon rock at a Washington news conference Monday.

Here are the key things scientists at the Manned Space Center say they have learned from Apollo 11.

—There is no evidence there is life on the moon.

—Exhaustive tests exposing the lunar material to earthly life forms—plants, fish, mice, birds and, accidentally, man himself—produced no evidence of moon pathogens or germs existing in the soil. Nor has the soil been shown to have a toxic effect on earth creatures.

—Examination of the rocks and dust show the moon to have been molten about the same time as the earth, about three billion years ago.

—The moon heated up after its formation, as did the earth, and was a glob of molten rock. But while the earth continued to evolve and bring forth life, the moon—after 500 million years—in effect died.

The Apollo 11 mission failed to still the hot debate among scientists about the origin of the moon.

Before the flight there were three theories: the moon was thrown into orbit from the Pacific Ocean area of the earth; it is a sister planet formed at the same time and in the same manner as the earth; it was formed elsewhere in the solar system and became a captive of the earth's gravitational field.

Examination of the Apollo 11 samples failed to confirm or contradict any of the theories.

Studies of the rocks gave no promise of any immediate economic benefit for mankind, and no indication of life on the moon.

Organic matter, which can come from a life form, was measured at from dead zero to one part per million" in the Apollo 11 samples, a scientist said. There is some question that even this minute amount may have come from the handling of the rocks and not from the moon.

Scientists were surprised at the number of meteorites constantly sprinkling the surface of the moon. The frequency of these hits was larger than expected, but no conclusions have been drawn as yet.

Dr. Robin Brett, a member of the preliminary examination team of scientists at the NASA lab, said the top surfaces of the rocks were also hit by "whopping great doses of solar wind," the radiation boiled away from the sun.

Dr. Oliver Schaeffer of the State University of New York at Stony Brook used an atomic dating device to establish the age of the rocks.

This system gives the approximate date that the rocks crystallized from the molten state. Schaeffer put the date at from 2.3 to 3.7 billion years ago, which is about the same as the oldest rocks measured on earth.

Record Utility Rate Hikes Asked By Private Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's consumers will pay in excess of a billion dollars more each year in gas, electricity and telephone bills if state commissions approve all rate increases currently sought by private utilities.

This figure—based on a compilation by Senate researchers—represents a record volume of rate hike applications by privately owned utilities.

The Senate's Government Operations Committee said a total of $961,160,505 in gas, electric and telephone rate increases were pending before the 50 state utility regulating commissions as of June 1.

Not included in this total, it said, are a number of substantial rate increase applications, including one for a $117.5 million rate increase by Consolidated Edison of New York and a $45 million proposed boost by Commonwealth Edison of Chicago.

The rate application figures, Senate staffers pointed out, also do not include some $218 million in rate-increase requests now before the FCC and the Federal Power Commission.

The state figures—on a utility-by-utility basis—break down this way: Proposed electric rate increases, $317.4 million; gas, $175.7 million; telephone, $468 million.

The Senate committee has held 21 days of hearings this summer on a bill, sponsored principally by Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., to provide more public information on utility operations and to create a federally financed staff of experts to represent consumer interests in rate negotiations with the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., which has been criticized for its closed-to-the-public format.

The committee said as of June 1, only eight states and

These were some of the largest rate applications as of June 1: New York, $198.3 million; Michigan, $188 million; California, $155.7 million; and Missouri, $73.5 million.

Tuesday, in unprecedented action, the Federal Communications Commission took a step toward matching what the Metcalf bill would write into law.

It appointed a lawyer and an economist to watch out for consumer interests in rate negotiations with the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., which has been criticized for its closed-to-the-public format.

Solons Fight Atom Carrier After Losing C5A Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy's request for a new nuclear-powered aircraft carrier was under fire today from senators undaunted by an overwhelming defeat in their attempt to delay production of the C5A supercargo plane.

Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., have called up their amendment to slash $377.1 million for the carrier out of the $20 billion military procurement authorization bill.

The amendment would prevent the Pentagon from going ahead on the carrier pending a review by the General Accounting Office of anticipated costs and the need for carriers in an age of nuclear missiles.

This was the same approach used unsuccessfully Monday against the C5A.

Sen. John C. Stennis, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, already has attacked the carrier amendment.

"In voting on this amendment we may make a vital and crucial decision as to whether we will have an effective naval air arm in the late 1970s and 1980s," said the Mississippi Democrat.

$533 million for the C5A from the bill. The amendment lost 64-23.

Sens. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and Stuart Symington, D-Mo., were among those who contended that more C5As will give the United States the capacity to ferry more troops and equipment overseas quickly, thus reducing the need to station so many soldiers on foreign soil.

But Proxmire, D-Wis., won approval by a 90-0 vote of another amendment. It is designed to prevent conflicts of interest among military officers or civilian officials who leave the Pentagon to go to work for defense contractors, and officials of large firms who go to work for the Pentagon.

See Record Ohio Roll On Welfare

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Public Welfare reported today that a record number of Ohioans are receiving Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) payments in August.

The report also noted that expansion of the state's welfare programs during the first eight months of 1969 is slower than recorded in 1968.

Welfare Director Denver Whit reported that ADC participation fell off from a previous May 1969 high during June and July but jumped to a record of 249,291 persons in August.

August statistics, however, showed that assistance checks were going to 63,551 families, less than were recorded in May.

In addition, growth of the ADC program in Ohio from December 1968 to August of this year is 11,338 persons, fewer than the 15,582 new recipients added to the rolls during the same period last year, the report said.

White said plentiful employment during June and July may have caused the mid-summer drop in ADC applicants.

Columbus Blaze Fatal To Woman

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A fire which firemen said apparently started from a cigarette caused the death early today of a 66-year-old woman who was baby sitting with her four grandchildren.

Firemen identified the victim as Mrs. Mamie F. Dismukes, who lived with her daughter. One of the children awakened and ran for help. None of the children was injured.

Baker Gains For GOP Post

Said Acceptable To All Factions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee is said to be receiving substantial support as a prospective candidate for the Senate Republican leadership left vacant by the death of Everett M. Dirksen, his father-in-law.

Senate GOP liberals have met privately to map their campaign for Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, party whip and now the acting GOP leader.

One GOP senator said the still undeclared leadership race is now a three-man affair—Baker, Scott and conservative Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska.

That assessment discounted Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado who is known to be interested in seeking the post.

Other sources said the arithmetic of available votes might eventually cause Hruska to decide against declared candidacy.

"What you are seeing now is a movement to Baker," said one Republican senator with unmatched conservative credentials.

Baker is considered a middle-of-the-road Republican likely to prove acceptable to both wings of the party.

The more liberal Republicans remain firmly aligned with Scott. Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, for example, said he felt a commitment to Scott.

But some senators now counted in the Scott camp indicated Baker would be an acceptable alternative.

The liberals met in the office of Sen. William B. Saxbe of Ohio to talk about the Scott campaign. Scott himself insisted he would not make a move or a comment until after Dirksen's burial Thursday.

A — The reason benefits are reduced at age 62 for workers and wives is that by doing this the actual cost over a period

Navy Likely To Lay Up Spy Vessels

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy probably will lay up some of its intelligence - gathering ships, Pentagon sources say. They forecast increased use of warships, chiefly destroyers, equipped to carry out such missions as relatively-close-to-shore interception of radio communications and monitoring of radar installations.

The action likely will be bound up in the Navy's trimming of the fleet to help meet its $1 billion share of White House-ordered spending cuts.

The move may also stem in part from congressional criticism and Pentagon studies following seizure of the spy ship Pueblo and the shooting down of a Navy reconnaissance plane, both by North Korea.

Sources indicated some of the estimated 12 lightly armed intelligence gathering vessels will remain in service, perhaps to operate in areas where danger of attack is at a minimum.

A destroyer, with five-inch guns and missiles, could hardly be overrun by the kind of torpedo and patrol boats the North Koreans sent against the Pueblo in January 1968. The Pueblo had only two machine guns for defense.

Destroyers, fitted with special electronic equipment, have carried out intelligence gathering chores in the past.

Lay up of some of the special intelligence vessels may be announced along with the next increment of ship retirements expected soon.

The Navy Aug. 22 identified some 76 vessels of various kinds to be taken out of commission.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has said more than 100 ships eventually will be taken off the active rolls. Sources said the total could reach about 125.

Plan To Reopen Coal Mine Where 78 Died Last Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Work on opening a giant tomb in West Virginia will start Friday, providing the weather is right for the highly dangerous operation. It's a coal mine called Mountaineer No. 9, at Farmington, sealed nine months ago with the bodies of 78 men inside and still full of methane—the gas blamed for the death-dealing blast last Nov. 20.

Consolidation Coal Co. has warned that when its mine is reopened and the methane is blown out it "will pose a constant threat of explosion in the immediate vicinity of the mine for several days at least."

Unfavorable weather conditions that could let methane accumulate, instead of dissipating through the atmosphere, would force postponement of reopening.

Even under the best conditions, says a federal safety expert, the men who break the first concrete seal face several hours—perhaps even a day or more—of danger.

"We don't anticipate any trouble," said James Westfield, an assistant director of the U.S. Bureau of Mines, "but we're taking every precaution."

"Once that seal is cracked methane will be coming out under pressure. If it were to explode the men working there could be burned or blown all around the place."

Consolidation has planned—with Bureau of Mines approval—to use fans to blow the escaping methane away from the workmen.

Methane is estimated at up to 97 per cent of the mine's atmosphere. This gas becomes explosive when diluted to between 5 and 15 per cent.

As air is forced through the mine, the methane will thin out to that explosive range. Experts believe all the underground fires are out and the mine has cooled enough to avoid new fires.

If they're wrong if "hot spots" still exist—the mine could blow again.

The company figures it will take five to seven days before the mine's atmosphere is safe enough for men to go underground.

Their job then will be to explore and repair the eastern half of the mine and seal it off from the more heavily damaged western half where most of last November's victims are located.

Experts estimate it might take months before the bodies can be recovered.

Q — When the retirement age was lowered to 62 why not pay full social security benefits at 62?

A — The reason benefits are reduced at age 62 for workers and wives is that by doing this the actual cost over a period of years remains about the same for those who take reduced benefits. If full benefits were paid at age 62, this would result in great additional cost and could not be done without a substantial increase in the contribution rate.

plane. Eighty - three persons, including the pilot of the private plane, were killed.

The Ohioans killed included a Cincinnati official of Colonial Stores, Inc. and a senior buyer for the Armo Stoll Corp. of Middletown.

Another Armo official also may have been on the plane. Augustine J. Long, a member of the board of Colonial Stores, his wife and their son, Gregory, were enroute to California from where the son was to have left for Vietnam. Long was president of Albers Super Markets Inc. before it merged with Colonial Stores.

The Armo official killed was Richard A. (Chick) Boxwell, 43, a senior buyer for the firm. Boxwell was a star on the 1944 Middletown state high school basketball team and later played with Xavier University.

He was enroute to Kansas City and was among several persons who had been scheduled to take a TWA plane out of here but were transferred to the Allegheny flight when the TWA plane developed mechanical trouble.

Two others apparently among the dead were A. Scott Thompson and Aaron W. Hubble, officials of the D. H. Baldwin Co. of Cincinnati. Thompson now lives, however, in Cold Spring, Ky.

Another reported killed was Mrs. Joseph M. DeCourcy of Cincinnati. She was a niece of Hamilton county commissioner Joseph L. DeCourcy.

Two former Cincinnatians also apparently were among the dead. They are Mr. and Mrs. Wienties, now of Chicago. The parents of both Mr. and Mrs. Wienties live here.

Says Mayor Shot Him

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP)—A Russell's Point resident testified Tuesday the resort town's mayor fired shotguns at him during disturbances July 5 injuring him in the neck and shoulder.

Mayor Lloyd Pickering is on trial here before visiting Probate Judge Leidel Bower of Shelby County on charges of malfeasance and misfeasance. The charges were filed by five Russell's Point residents seeking Pickering's removal from office.

Robert Daignault, who has filed a $70,000 damage suit against the mayor in Logan County Common Pleas Court, said he was walking with his 14-year - old foster son when Pickering shot him.

Two girls and two boys also testified they saw Pickering fire the shotgun which he said he used to disperse unruly crowds of youths that gathered in the city over the July 4 weekend.

Navy Likely To Lay Up Spy Vessels

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy probably will lay up some of its intelligence - gathering ships, Pentagon sources say. They forecast increased use of warships, chiefly destroyers, equipped to carry out such missions as relatively-close-to-shore interception of radio communications and monitoring of radar installations.

The action likely will be bound up in the Navy's trimming of the fleet to help meet its $1 billion share of White House-ordered spending cuts.

The move may also stem in part from congressional criticism and Pentagon studies following seizure of the spy ship Pueblo and the shooting down of a Navy reconnaissance plane, both by North Korea.

Sources indicated some of the estimated 12 lightly armed intelligence gathering vessels will remain in service, perhaps to operate in areas where danger of attack is at a minimum.

A destroyer, with five-inch guns and missiles, could hardly be overrun by the kind of torpedo and patrol boats the North Koreans sent against the Pueblo in January 1968. The Pueblo had only two machine guns for defense.

Destroyers, fitted with special electronic equipment, have carried out intelligence gathering chores in the past.

Lay up of some of the special intelligence vessels may be announced along with the next increment of ship retirements expected soon.

The Navy Aug. 22 identified some 76 vessels of various kinds to be taken out of commission. Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has said more than 100 ships eventually will be taken off the active rolls. Sources said the total could reach about 125.

NROTC Tests Applications Are Available

Applications for the Navy's annual Regular NROTC qualification test are now available according to Richard Fisher, counselor at the Circleville High School.

This nationwide examination will be given on December 13, 1969, and all eligible male high school seniors and graduates may apply.

On the basis of this test, personal interviews, medical examinations, and other factors, about 1,700 young men will enter the Regular NROTC Program as midshipmen at leading colleges and universities throughout the nation where NROTC units are established.

Male citizens of the United States who will be at least 17 but not yet 21 years old on June 30, 1970, and who are now high school seniors or recent graduates, may be eligible to apply for the test.

Those who attain qualifying scores will be interviewed and given medical examinations next January and February.

A successful candidate receives financial aid for four years of college. This includes tuition and educational fees, books, uniforms, and $50 per month subsistence allowance.

After successfully completing baccalaureate degree requirements and naval training, graduates are commissioned as officers in the U.S. Navy or Marine Corps.

Registration for the test will close November 14, 1969. The 1970 NROTC Bulletin containing eligibility requirements and qualifying test applications are available from Fisher or the U.S. Navy Recruiting Station at Circleville Post Office on Thursdays.

Plan To Reopen Coal Mine Where 78 Died Last Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Work on opening a giant tomb in West Virginia will start Friday, providing the weather is right for the highly dangerous operation. It's a coal mine called Mountaineer No. 9, at Farmington, sealed nine months ago with the bodies of 78 men inside and still full of methane—the gas blamed for the death-dealing blast last Nov. 20.

Consolidation Coal Co. has warned that when its mine is reopened and the methane is blown out it "will pose a constant threat of explosion in the immediate vicinity of the mine for several days at least."

Unfavorable weather conditions that could let methane accumulate, instead of dissipating through the atmosphere, would force postponement of reopening.

Hipp Receives Promotion At DuPont Plant

Donald L. Hipp has been promoted to shift supervisor in the Kapton-Tafion installation at DuPont.

Hipp has been with the company since 1959, starting as an operator in the Yerkes Research and Development Laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y. He was transferred to the Circleville plant in 1966 as foreman in Mylar plant technical section, and later served in the same capacity in the manufacturing division.

The new supervisor lives with his wife, Ann and two sons, Jeffrey and James, at 409 Edwards Road. They are members of the United Methodist Church, and he is neighborhood commissioner in the Boy Scouts.

A four-year veteran of the U.S. Navy, Hipp studied engineering at the University of Buffalo.

Blast Hurts 6 Persons

TWINSBURG, Ohio (AP) — Six persons were injured, one critically, in an explosion and fire that wrecked a two-family home in Twinsburg early today.

Mrs. Geraldine Rushnok, 23, was reported in critical condition at Suburban Community Hospital in Warrensville Heights.

Her husband, Fred, 24, was listed in fair condition. Also reported as fair were Robert Cross, 22, and his wife, June, 19. Their 13-month - old daughter, Deana, was treated and released.

The sixth person injured was Frank Troia, 19, of Oakwood Village, who was burned in a rescue attempt.

Cause of the explosion was not determined.

Assassin Given Death Sentence By Kenya Court

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The man accused of assassinating Economics Minister Tom Mboya was found guilty of murder today and sentenced to death.

The defendant, Isaac Njenga, 34, will be hanged unless he wins an appeal or sentence is commuted.

The verdict was announced in the High Court here after a seven-day trial.

Njenga who remained impassive when sentence was passed was told he has seven days in which to appeal.

Njenga was convicted of shooting down Mboya in a Nairobi street July 5.

At the trial, Njenga denied the shooting and said that Mboya was his friend.

Pickaway Twp. PTO Will Meet
Pickaway Twp. Parent Teachers Organization will hold its first meeting of the fall season 8 p.m. Thursday at the school.

A membership drive will be started and Little League ball players introduced.

Even under the best conditions, says a federal safety expert, the men who break the first concrete seal face several hours—perhaps even a day or more—of danger.

"We don't anticipate any trouble," said James Westfield, an assistant director of the U.S. Bureau of Mines. "But we're taking every precaution."

"Once that seal is cracked methane will be coming out under pressure. If it were to explode the men working there could be burned or blown all around the place."

Consolidation has planned—with Bureau of Mines approval—to use fans to blow the escaping methane away from the workmen.

Methane is estimated at up to 97 per cent of the mine's atmosphere. This gas becomes explosive when diluted to between 5 and 15 per cent.

As air is forced through the mine, the methane will thin out to that explosive range. Experts believe all the underground fires are out and the mine has cooled enough to avoid new fires.

If they're wrong if "hot spots" still exist—the mine could blow again.

The company figures it will take five to seven days before the mine's atmosphere is safe enough for men to go underground.

Their job then will be to explore and repair the eastern half of the mine and seal it off from the more heavily damaged western half where most of last November's victims are located.

Experts estimate it might take months before the bodies can be recovered.

which Israel seized from Egypt in the 1967 war.

Israeli officers said the ground troops were backed up by warplanes that struck scores of military targets and delivered a "devastating attack" on a big anti-aircraft missile battery at El Hasayer.

Israel said one Israeli plane was shot down over the gulf, its pilot was missing and only one Israeli foot soldier was injured.

Egypt claimed its forces downed three Israeli planes, sank two torpedo boats and inflicted heavy casualties. The Israelis were "forced to turn tail" after suffering heavy losses of men and equipment, Cairo Radio said.

Change In War Unlikely

It would be folly to suppose that the influence of Ho Chi Minh will disappear overnight, or for a long time to come. Instead, his memory most likely will be invoked again and again as his successors strive to continue along the path he mapped.

Outsiders generally can only guess what occurs in inner communist circles, but indications are that the Hanoi regime has not been the one-man operation that, say, the Kremlin largely was under Stalin.

Years ago Ho was reported to have been building a team of younger men to work with him in policy-shaping, and this team no doubt has long since become thoroughly attuned to the Ho attitudes and methods.

The United States and South Vietnam should not overlook any possibilities for bringing peace, however. If, freed from accountability to Ho, Hanoi's negotiators in Paris show any sign of becoming more flexible, the allied representatives should be prepared to respond.

But at the moment it seems wishful thinking to suppose that Hanoi will bury Ho Chi Minh's intransigence in the near future if ever.

The Business World

By DAVID SMYTH (For John Cuniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — Profit-sharing is big in the Western world and getting bigger. Five million employees are covered by a government-imposed profit-sharing system in France and at least six million are benefited by voluntary plans in the United States.

Some of the biggest companies in Great Britain, Canada, West Germany, Italy and Holland voluntarily give their employees a piece of the action under various profit-sharing schemes. Denmark has set up a national board to create the establishment of such voluntary plans. In Mexico profit-sharing has been compulsory since 1964.

The underdeveloped nations of the world also seem to be latching on to the idea. The Afro-Asian Organization for Economic Cooperation has recommended compulsory profit-sharing. 75 per cent to company shareholders and 25 per cent to employees.

The world leader in voluntary plans appears to be the United States, with more than 77,000 deferred plans at last count, and thousands of cash plans, which give out the profits periodically as they come in.

Big U.S. corporations tend to favor deferred plans, which postpone profit distributions to employees until they retire or leave. These plans give the employee a tax break, deferring tax payments, sometimes at lower capital gains rates. Cash distributions are liable for normal income tax.

A study by the Profit Sharing Research Foundation of Evanston, Ill. indicates that cash plans are two to three more times more popular among firms with 19 employees or less. Deferred plans are twice as popular as cash plans among businesses with 20 employees or more. One reason for this could be that cash distributions boost morale in outfits small enough for the individual to see the result of his effort.

The same study concludes that one out of every five American businesses with 50 employees or more has a profit-sharing plan of some kind, and the proportion is steadily rising toward one in every four.

Labor unions traditionally have been hostile or indifferent to profit-sharing plans but the foundation says union attitudes are now "in flux." However, management and labor are both found to be reluctant to include profit-sharing in collective labor agreements.

A notable exception was the landmark labor contract signed by the United Auto Workers, covering 25,000 workers. The agreement provided that one-third of the profits to be shared should be used to buy American Motors stock for employees and the other two thirds to improve insurance and pension programs.

Profit-sharing can add up to substantial amounts for individual employees. A secretary at the Signode Steel Strapping Co. in Chicago for example retired in 1960 after 19 years in the Signode profit-sharing plan with $35,000 in cash and Signode stock.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I awoke two days ago and found my face twisted on the side so that I could not close my eyes. I have been told that this is called Bell's Palsy. Can such a condition come out of the blue without any previous illness? Does it leave permanent disfigurement?

Mr. C. Y., Kansas
Dear Mr. Y.: Bell's Palsy is caused by an inflammation of one of the large nerves that lead from the brain. The seventh nerve, one of twelve passes through the mastoid bone and then fans out in three divisions to bring motion to the muscles of the eyes, the lips, the face and the forehead.

The condition is named after a very famous Scottish surgeon, Sir Charles Bell, who lived in the early part of the nineteenth century. He noted that when this seventh nerve is inflamed it produces the signs you describe.

The first and second branches, when affected, make it difficult to move the forehead on that side. They also make it hard to move the muscle to close the eye on that same side. The third branch involves muscles around the lips, especially those controlling facial expressions.

It is suspected that a virus infection or a severe draft or exposure to cold winds may cause these changes in the seventh nerve. Often the condition struts as sudden as it did with you without any previous illness.

This is a form of neuritis that demands immediate treatment. At present, unless there is special reason not to use it, small doses of cortisone are effective when started early.

In more than seventy-five percent of all the cases recovery slowly begins to take place and it is complete in six to eight weeks. During that time a massage and electric stimulation of the muscles of the face keep them in good tone. Special protective glasses are used with an outside shield in order to keep soot and dust from entering the eye. This is especially important because the eye cannot close and foreign bodies can become embedded below the surface. In some stubborn cases where there seems to be little or no progress it may be necessary to perform an operation to relieve the pressure on the seventh nerve. Almost always the return to normal is effective without surgery and there are only occasional permanent after effects. Disfigurement depends entirely on whether or not recovery of nerve function is complete.

Is it always necessary to give a child an injection of Gamma Globulin after he is exposed to a contagious disease?

Mrs. P. T., Massachusetts
Dear Mrs. T.: Gamma Globulin is an important element in the blood. Many of the factors that fight off infection are contained in G.G. Sometimes children are found to have a deficiency of G.G. and in these instances doctors suggest regular injections after exposure to contagious diseases. These are particularly important.

G.G. may not totally prevent infection but in most instances it reduces severity.

Federal Snafu Runs Cycle

By LOWELL WEICKER JR.
Fo John Chamberlain
WASHINGTON — A photograph that appeared in many newspapers throughout the country recently featured an elderly woman in a long black dress, wearing a shawl, standing in line at the New York Passport Office waiting to fill out an application.

On this woman's face was a look of weariness and desperation. The caption under the photograph told the story of how she had been waiting in line since early morning to fill out an application for a passport that would let her visit the homeland she had left so many years ago.

This scene could have been photographed in many areas throughout the country, for the passport issuing service is a national disgrace.

As I looked at this photo, I remembered similar pictures in an old history book showing immigrants standing in long lines waiting to complete applications to enter this country.

Here in this one woman's lifetime was the entire cycle of government snafu. When she arrived in this country at the turn of the century, the government was not equipped nor staffed to process her entrance efficiently, without delays. A half century later when she seeks to leave the country for a visit to her former homeland, she finds the government still conducting a horse-and-buggy operation in a jet age when it comes to issuing a passport.

Why in this day and age, when "the once in a lifetime" vacation abroad is attainable by the average income American, are delays and inconvenience a normal part of the passport application process?

The question can be answered only by Congressman John Rooney, and by ranking State Department officials who are petrified at the thought of bucking the powerful Democratic Congressman who heads a subcommittee of the Appropriations Committee which handles the Department's budget.

Miss Frances Knight, director of the Passport Office, has long been a champion of better service for the traveling public. Miss Knight has long predicted the crisis which has resulted in long lines and delays in applying for a passport in many areas of the country. And she has requested additional personnel to staff offices to handle the increased demands for passports.

But Congressman Rooney insists that Federal Court personnel continue to handle passport applications despite the inconveniences to the general public and despite the refusal on the part of many courts to process applications because of a heavy judicial workload.

As a result, in such states as Alaska, Texas, Washington, Michigan and Connecticut, the Federal Court have refused or threatened to refuse passport applications and service has been cut back.

Throughout the nation, the traveling public has found that while it takes but a few hours by jet to go abroad it takes all day to apply for a passport. Whether you have been in Congress for 27 sessions or one, we are here to serve the people in our districts, but the present could hardly be classified as good service.

In an attempt to solve this national crisis, Congressman Robert Giampo (D., Conn.) and I have proposed, on a bipartisan basis, legislation which would allow the Passport Office to establish agencies or service offices which would be self-sustaining, to service the public in areas where additional facilities are warranted. In areas where service offices would not be self-sustaining, the Federal Courts would be required to accept passport applications.

Since the passport problem is national in scope, twenty-five Congressmen from both parties and representing districts all over the country have endorsed or co-sponsored the bill.

At the same time, this expanded service would not cost the taxpayer a cent from his pocket. One look at the record shows that the Passport Office knows the meaning of the word economy. In the last fiscal year the office returned to the Treasury $10 million more than it spent.

It is only just that this money is put to use to provide better service for the traveling public. That weary, elderly woman who spent the day standing in line and the traveling public do not understand the intricacies of Washington's bureaucratic battles. All they know is that they are paying for service but are not being treated fairly.

State Departments issue laws. To ask one to perform the function of the other is the type of Rube Goldberg mechanism that belongs to the era in which it was contrived.

Jack Lord Happy

By BOB THOMAS

AP Television-Movie Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — "I've been prospecting a long time, and finally I've hit pay dirt." This was a different, more confident Jack Lord, enjoying the euphoria of a success.

Last summer the actor seemed uptight. He was working at a furious pace on a new television series, "Hawaii Five-O," and the tension was apparent. CBS' most expensive show—a quarter-million dollars per segment—was resting on his broad shoulder.

The situation worsened when the series failed to generate a respectable rating in the Thursday-at-8 time slot. No wonder, Lord said, "we had the 'great' lead-in of 'Blondie,' and we were pre-empted four times in the first nine weeks."

"Hawaii Five-O" plummeted to 65th place in the ratings out of 78 shows, and TV insiders had written it off as another costly flop.

Then on Christmas night Mike Dann (CBS program boss) gave us the best present we could possibly have received," recalled Lord. "He switched the time period to Wednesday at 10.

On that night we were 45th out of 78 shows, and we've been constantly building so that the last rating had us No. 9."

Now the show is sold out for sponsorship through the 1969-70 season.

Lord may be the hardest working actor in television. He's up at 4 a.m. to study his lines, then he jogs a mile along the Kahala beach in front of his condominium apartment, reports to the set at 6:30 a.m. He works a minimum 12-hour day six days a week and one week clocked 84 hours.

Such a schedule will make him a very tired but very rich actor.

"After five years I'll be able to do what I want," he remarked in the $35,000 land yacht which he designed and bought to bring comfort to his work day.

"By that time I'll be able to retire with a couple of million dollars. Then I'd like to paint for eight hours a day, six months a year, and direct a feature movie each year. And I'll be able to see my wife eight hours a day, instead of this movie crew."

According To Boyle

By JOY STILLEY (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — The new exact change system that recently went into effect on New York City buses emphasizes anew the erratic behavior of any money that happens to be in my possession.

Under the present setup, riders must have either 20 cents in change or a subway token to put in the coin box. The driver no longer make change.

This poses a problem for me, because all I ever seem to have is quarters.

No matter how many dollar bills I break during the day for coffee, newspapers, gum or mints, when the showdown comes nothing shows up but 25-cent pieces and pennies.

Some of my best friends have nickels and dimes. Sometimes I get them too, and tuck them away with loving care, happy in the knowledge that I can come to terms with any vending machine. But when the moment of truth arrives, or when I have a confrontation with a pay telephone, those lesser coins I have so carefully hoarded have by some alchemy turned into the omnipresent quarters.

While too little wealth brings problems, so at times does too much wealth. Take that gadget that turns a dollar bill into all sorts of useful coins if you can manage to get George Washington's picture in just the right spot and push the plunger with the proper flair. When I chance upon one of these money-changing wonders I'm sure to have no bill smaller than a five on hand.

I've become resigned to the fact that money and I will never achieve a compatible relationship.

If I set out on a shopping trip with bulging bankroll, not one item strikes my fancy. But if I just happen to be in a store when I'm a likely candidate for a bank loan I'm sure to run across something irresistible.

Oh well, I've always got all those quarters—unless I happen to need one for the washing machine.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I awoke two days ago and found my face twisted on the side so that I could not close my eyes. I have been told that this is called Bell's Palsy. Can such a condition come out of the blue without any previous illness? Does it leave permanent disfigurement?

Mr. C. Y. Kansas
Dear Mr. Y.: Bell's Palsy is caused by an inflammation of one of the large nerves that lead from the brain. The seventh nerve, one of twelve passes through the mastoid bone and then fans out in three divisions to bring motion to the muscles of the eyes, the lips, the face and the forehead.

The condition is named after a very famous Scottish surgeon, Sir Charles Bell, who lived in the early part of the nineteenth century. He noted that when this seventh nerve is inflamed it produces the signs you describe.

The first and second branches, when affected, make it difficult to move the forehead on that side. They also make it hard to move the muscle to close the eye on that same side. The third branch involves muscles around the lips, especially those controlling facial expressions.

It is suspected that a virus infection or a severe draft or exposure to cold winds may cause these changes in the seventh nerve. Often the condition struts as sudden as it did with you without any previous illness.

This is a form of neuritis that demands immediate treatment. At present, unless there is special reason not to use it, small doses of cortisone are effective when started early.

In more than seventy-five percent of all the cases recovery slowly begins to take place and it is complete in six to eight weeks. During that time a massage and electric stimulation of the muscles of the face keep them in good tone. Special protective glasses are used with an outside shield in order to keep soot and dust from entering the eye. This is especially important because the eye cannot close and foreign bodies can become embedded below the surface. In some stubborn cases where there seems to be little or no progress it may be necessary to perform an operation to relieve the pressure on the seventh nerve. Almost always the return to normal is effective without surgery and there are only occasional permanent after effects. Disfigurement depends entirely on whether or not recovery of nerve function is complete.

Is it always necessary to give a child an injection of Gamma Globulin after he is exposed to a contagious disease?

Mrs. P. T., Massachusetts

Dear Mrs. T.: Gamma Globulin is an important element in the blood. Many of the factors that fight off infection are contained in G.G. Sometimes children are found to have a deficiency of G.G. and in these instances doctors suggest regular injections after exposure to contagious diseases. These are particularly important.

G. G. may not totally prevent infection but in most instances it reduces severity.

Federal Snafu Runs Cycle

By LOWELL WEICKER JR.
Fo John Chamberlain

WASHINGTON — A photograph that appeared in many newspapers throughout the country recently featured an elderly woman in a long black dress, wearing a shawl, standing in line at the New York Passport Office waiting to fill out an application.

On this woman's face was a look of weariness and desperation. The caption under the photograph told the story of how she had been waiting in line since early morning to fill out an application for a passport that would let her visit the homeland she had left so many years ago.

This scene could have been photographed in many areas throughout the country, for the passport issuing service is a national disgrace.

As I looked at this photo, I remembered similar pictures in an old history book showing immigrants standing in long lines waiting to complete applications to enter this country.

Here in this one woman's lifetime was the entire cycle of government snafu. When she arrived in this country at the turn of the century, the government was not equipped nor staffed to process her entrance efficiently, without delays. A half century later when she seeks to leave the country for a visit to her former homeland, she finds the government still conducting a horse-and-buggy operation in a jet age when it comes to issuing a passport.

Why in this day and age, when "the once in a lifetime" vacation abroad is attainable by the average income American, are delays and inconvenience a normal part of the passport application process?

The question can be answered only by Congressman John Rooney, and by ranking State Department officials who are petrified at the thought of bucking the powerful Democratic Congressman who heads a subcommittee of the Appropriations Committee which handles the Department's budget.

Miss Frances Knight, director of the Passport Office, has long been a champion of better service for the traveling public. Miss Knight has long predicted the crisis which has resulted in long lines and delays in applying for a passport in many areas of the country. And she has requested additional personnel to staff offices to handle the increased demands for passports.

But Congressman Rooney insists that Federal Court personnel continue to handle passport applications despite the inconveniences to the general public and despite the refusal on the part of many courts to process applications because of a heavy judicial workload.

As a result, in such states as Alaska, Texas, Washington, Michigan and Connecticut, the Federal Court have refused or threatened to refuse passport applications and service has been cut back.

Throughout the nation, the traveling public has found that while it takes but a few hours by jet to go abroad it takes all day to apply for a passport.

Whether you have been in Congress for 27 sessions or one, we are here to serve the people in our districts, but the present could hardly be classified as good service.

In an attempt to solve this national crisis, Congressman Robert Gianno (D., Conn.) and I have proposed, on a bipartisan basis, legislation which would allow the Passport Office to establish agencies or service offices which would be self-sustaining, to service the public in areas where additional facilities are warranted. In areas where service offices would not be self-sustaining, the Federal Courts would be required to accept passport applications.

Since the passport problem is national in scope, twenty-five Congressmen from both parties and representing districts all over the country have endorsed or co-sponsored the bill.

At the same time, this expanded service would not cost the taxpayer a cent from his pocket. One look at the record shows that the Passport Office knows the meaning of the word economy. In the last fiscal year the office returned to the Treasury $10 million more than it spent.

It is only just that this money is put to use to provide better service for the traveling public. That weary, elderly woman who spent the day standing in line and the traveling public do not understand the intricacies of Washington's bureaucratic battles. All they know is that they are paying for service but are not being treated fairly.

State Departments issue laws. To ask one to perform the function of the other is the type of Rube Goldberg mechanism that belongs to the era in which it was contrived.

Jack Lord Happy

By BOB THOMAS

AP Television-Movie Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — "I've been prospecting a long time, and finally I've hit pay dirt." This was a different, more confident Jack Lord, enjoying the euphoria of a success.

Last summer the actor seemed uptight. He was working at a furious pace on a new television series, "Hawaii Five-O," and the tension was apparent. CBS' most expensive show—a quarter-million dollars per segment—was resting on his broad shoulder.

The situation worsened when the series failed to generate a respectable rating in the Thursday-at-8 time slot. No wonder, Lord said, "we had the 'great' lead-in of 'Blondie,' and we were pre-empted four times in the first nine weeks."

"Hawaii Five-O" plummeted to 65th place in the ratings out of 78 shows, and TV insiders had written it off as another costly flop.

"Then on Christmas night Mike Dann (CBS program boss) gave us the best present we could possibly have received," recalled Lord. "He switched the time period to Wednesday at 10.

On that night we were 45th out of 78 shows, and we've been constantly building so that the last rating had us No. 9."

Now the show is sold out for sponsorship through the 1969-70 season.

Lord may be the hardest working actor in television. He's up at 4 a.m. to study his lines, then he jogs a mile along the Kahala beach in front of his condominium apartment, reports to the set at 6:30 a.m. He works a minimum 12-hour day six days a week and one week clocked 84 hours.

Such a schedule will make him a very tired but very rich actor.

"After five years I'll be able to do what I want," he remarked in the $35,000 land yacht which he designed and bought to bring comfort to his work day.

"By that time I'll be able to retire with a couple of million dollars. Then I'd like to paint for eight hours a day, six months a year, and direct a feature movie each year. And I'll be able to see my wife eight hours a day, instead of this movie crew."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Rent Collecting Pays Off!!

DEAR ABBY: I am a married man with a family. I work for my father-in-law who owns some apartment buildings, and two evenings a week I do some rent-collecting for him.

About a year ago a woman (about 40) moved into one of his flats. She is a physical therapist and holds the rank of Captain in the WAF. She has never been married.

Although I don't "love" her, I find her to be a very exciting woman. She is intelligent and interesting and has been all over the world. By contrast, my wife (whom I really love) seems very dull and interesting.

My problem is that the Captain now demands that I see her more often than just on my rent-collecting nights. She says if I refuse she will tell my wife about us. My wife doesn't suspect anything, but she has already threatened to complain to her father that he has been "over working" me. What should I do?

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS
DEAR ABBY: Next time you go "rent collecting," collect only the rent, and tell the Captain that she is "off limits." I would bet against her telling your wife. But if she does, you can expect to be "worked over" instead of overworked. But take it like a man. It's still better than submitting to blackmail.

DEAR ABBY: I've heard that my daughter has been telling friends that when she goes back to work I will baby-sit for her. (She's divorcing her husband). This is quite a surprise to me because she hasn't asked ME yet. I guess she just takes me for granted.

I have been a widow for 22 years and I have worked hard to send my four children through college. I am not rich, but I don't need baby-sitting money to eat. Now that I am in my sixties, frankly, I am tired, and I think I've earned the right to take life a little easier.

How can I tell my daughter of my decision when she hasn't even ASKED me yet? She starts her job in five weeks. Should I come right out and tell her if she's depending on me, she'd better line up someone else because Grandma isn't sitting anymore?

TIED
DEAR ABBY: It's unfortunate that you and your daughter don't have a better communication system. Don't provide answers for unasked questions. If and when she asks you, speak your piece.

DEAR ABBY: Do you know what a real friend is? It is someone who cares enough about your feelings to spare you as much pain as possible. Example:

Our 29-year-old daughter and her husband, after nine years of marriage, decided to get a divorce. They have two darling children. Fortunately, it will not be one of those messy affairs. They quietly made their decision and told us (first) that they plan to announce it next week. Of course we were shocked and heartsick that their marriage ended this way, but they assured us they tried hard to make a go of it, but it was hopeless.

Not wishing my dearest friend to hear it from outsiders, I told her in confidence this afternoon. Her only comment was, "Thank you for telling me."

She didn't say, "Oh, how terrible!" Or, "WHAT HAPPENED?" Or, "Aren't you just sick about it?" Or, "Oh, those poor children!"

When I left her, I thanked

Mike is 15 and lives in Rhode Island. A few months ago, he ran away from home and disappeared among the flocks and jetsam of the youth revolution in New York's East Village.

He surfaced a few days later when two newfound friends virtually dragged him into a storefront building after he had gulped down a handful of speed tablets, or methamphetamine.

They poured coffee and soup into him and he recovered. Then he was quietly persuaded to return home.

Mike—it's not his real name—is one of an estimated half a million youths between 12 and 18 who run away from home every year. The exact figure is unknown because police believe thousands of runaways, particularly boys and older teenagers, are never reported missing.

The runaway problem is national in scope, affecting every section of the country. Officials in some cities report the number is increasing.

Many of today's youths are fleeing what they consider intolerable conditions at home. In the idiom of today, when the generation gap widens enough, they split.

Others are in search of nirvana among the residue of the disintegrating hippie enclaves of San Francisco, New York, Los Angeles, Boston and other cities.

"Running away is a fad," said Louis Abolafia, 26, who runs the Foundation for Runaway Children, which persuaded Mike to return home. "The kids have a place to run to now. And then they go home they tell their friends and they try it."

Many of today's runaways find disillusionment, despair, drugs, venereal disease says chief of the Boston Police Juvenile Bureau. "Most of them aren't streetwise tough kids. These are suburban kids — and naive ones at that."

A Philadelphia girl went to a pop music festival in Atlantic City a few weeks ago. The girl ran off with a boy, police said, and wasn't found until 12 days later in a motel in Tampa, Fla.

An Ohio girl who ran away to New York was raped by three toughs, then tossed out a window. A number of runaways have been murdered.

San Francisco police believe that at least 20,000 runaway youths are drawn each year to Haight-Ashbury, a one-time hippie mecca that has slipped from the underworld to the underworld. A police official described it as "the worst human cesspool in the West."

New York gets a thousand reports a month of missing teenagers and last year police actually searched for 2,742 from out of town in Greenwich Village and the East Village. The largest category is 15-year-old girls.

It's the same in Hollywood, in the psychedelic haunts along Sunset Strip in Los Angeles, Rittenhouse Square in Philadelphia, Mount Vernon Square in Baltimore, the French Quarter in New Orleans and on the Boston Common.

In Detroit, where runaways head for Plum Street, Yancey Griggs, director of the Wayne County Youth Home, said the problem of runaways "definitely is getting worse."

At San Francisco's Huckleberry House for Runaways, which reunites about 1,500 runaways with their parents annually, the Rev. Lawrence Beggs, executive director, estimates that nationally 500,000 youths run away from home each year.

A high percentage return home, either voluntarily, or with the aid of police, Travelers Aid or private organizations such as the Runaway Foundation, the Huckleberry House or the Diggers Creative Society.

Some parents who set out to find their missing son or daughter usually are unable to recognize them in a crowd, according to Lt. Ruth Carter of the Philadelphia Juvenile Aid Bureau. Appearances change as they let the hair grow and lose 10 to 15 pounds because they don't eat regularly.

Speaking of the role played by the private organizations working to reunite runaways and parents, Abolafia said, "We don't make the kids go home. They'd just run away again. If we dragged them off the street,

Nixon Plans Viet Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has called an extraordinary meeting Friday of his top advisers to discuss every aspect of the Vietnam situation, the White House announced.

Press officer Ronald L. Ziegler, who announced the meeting, declined to discuss specific topics.

Nixon announced earlier he would take another look at troop withdrawals early in September.

Called to attend the meeting were Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, national security adviser Dr. Henry Kissinger, Gen. Earle Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Adm. William McCain, commander in chief of U.S. forces in the Pacific, Gen. Creighton Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, Richard Helms, director of Central Intelligence and Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam.

our job would be finished. We talk to them, persuade them to return home, talk to the parents."

Abolafia, who ran on the Love ticket for president and is a minor-party candidate in New York's current mayoralty race, said he keeps food for the runaways, finds pads for them and tries to keep them off hard drugs.

Why do they run away? Capt. Thomas M. Frost, director of the Chicago Police Youth Division, says it's "a sign of the times." He blames the lack of family stability in an age when everybody is "too much on the go."

Lt. Carter said, "Girls run away because of boys. Boys usually run away to escape some member of the family. Truancy and trouble with school work are a couple of other reasons the boys run off."

Others contend the times and motives have changed. Capt. Thomas Quinlan of the San Francisco Police Juvenile Bureau, said, "These runaways are a new breed, that's a major part of the problem."

"They're looking for a magic solution to their problems, real and fancied. They're trying to find glamorous adventure in the Haight-Ashbury. They're curious about pot or speed."

Another thing that distinguishes them from past runaways is that they want to get by free. They live off each other in crowded crash pads and defiantly cadge money in the streets. Some steal or push drugs.

Capt. Mortimer McInerney, whose division includes Haight-Ashbury, said, "They expect free food from friendly natives, crash pads, wall-to-wall fun in the streets, plus hot-and-cold running rock music... I'd like to make it clear that all they run away into is fear, sickness, stagnation and real danger."

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Rent Collecting Pays Off!!

DEAR ABBY: I am a married man with a family. I work for my father-in-law who owns some apartment buildings, and two evenings a week I do some rent-collecting for him.

About a year ago a woman (about 40) moved into one of his flats. She is a physical therapist and holds the rank of Captain in the WAF. She has never been married.

Although I don't "love" her, I find her to be a very exciting woman. She is intelligent and interesting and has been all over the world. By contrast, my wife (whom I really love) seems very dull and interesting.

My problem is that the Captain now demands that I see her more often than just on my rent-collecting nights. She says if I refuse she will tell my wife about us. My wife doesn't suspect anything, but she has already threatened to complain to her father that he has been "over working" me. What should I do?

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS
DEAR SLEEPLESS: Next time you go "rent collecting," collect only the rent, and tell the Captain that she is "off limits." I would bet against her telling your wife. But if she does, you can expect to be "worked over" instead of overworked. But take it like a man. It's still better than submitting to blackmail.

DEAR ABBY: I've heard that my daughter has been telling friends that when she goes back to work I will baby-sit for her. (She's divorcing her husband). This is quite a surprise to me because he hasn't asked ME yet. I guess she just takes me for granted.

I have been a widow for 22 years and I have worked hard to send my four children through college. I am not rich, but I don't need baby-sitting money to eat. Now that I am in my sixties, frankly, I am tired, and I think I've earned the right to take life a little easier.

How can I tell my daughter of my decision when she hasn't even ASKED me yet? She starts her job in five weeks. Should I come right out and tell her if she's depending on me, she'd better line up someone else because Grandma isn't sitting anymore?

TIED
DEAR TIED: It's unfortunate that you and your daughter don't have a better communication system. Don't provide answers for unasked questions. If and when she asks you, speak your piece.

DEAR ABBY: Do you know what a real friend is? It is someone who cares enough about your feelings to spare you as much pain as possible. Example:

Our 29-year-old daughter and her husband, after nine years of marriage, decided to get a divorce. They have two darling children. Fortunately, it will not be one of those messy affairs. They quietly made their decision and told us (first) that they plan to announce it next week. Of course we were shocked and heartsick that their marriage ended this way, but they assured us they tried hard to make a go of it, but it was hopeless.

Not wishing my dearest friend to hear it from outsiders, I told her in confidence this afternoon. Her only comment was, "Thank you for telling me."

She didn't say, "Oh, how terrible!" Or, "WHAT HAPPENED?" Or, "Aren't you just sick about it?" Or, "Oh, those poor children!"

When I left her, I thanked

Runaways Fleeing Headlong Into Trouble And Danger

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer

Mike is 15 and lives in Rhode Island. A few months ago, he ran away from home and disappeared among the flotsam and jetsam of the youth revolution in New York's East Village.

He surfaced a few days later when two newfound friends virtually dragged him into a storefront building after he had gulped down a handful of speed tablets, or methamphetamine.

They poured coffee and soup into him and he recovered. Then he was quietly persuaded to return home.

Mike—it's not his real name—is one of an estimated half a million youths between 12 and 18 who run away from home every year. The exact figure is unknown because police believe thousands of runaways, particularly boys and older teenagers, are never reported missing.

The runaway problem is national in scope, affecting every section of the country. Officials in some cities report the number is increasing.

Many of today's youths are fleeing what they consider intolerable conditions at home. In the idiom of today, when the generation gap widens enough, they split.

Others are in search of nirvana among the residue of the disintegrating hippie enclaves of San Francisco, New York, Los Angeles, Boston and other cities.

"Running away is a fad," said Louis Abolafia, 26, who runs the Foundation for Runaway Children, which persuaded Mike to return home. "The kids have a her for her considerate reaction to the news I gave her. Her only remark was, "What else is there to say? It's your daughter's business, and being an intelligent girl, he has given her decision much thought, I am sure."

Small Planes Figure In Many Air Tragedies

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least once a day the sleek, crowded airline jets that crisscross the nation's skies have a close brush with the mass tragedy of a collision in the air.

More than half of all victims of commercial jet crashes in this country in the last 2½ years have died because of collisions with small private planes.

And while other areas of air safety are constantly improving, this is not.

The latest crash killed 83 persons Tuesday when, eyewitnesses said, an Allegheny Airlines DC9 jet was hit by a single-engine private plane as it was approaching a landing at Indianapolis. There were no survivors.

It was the third fatal collision involving a jetliner and a small plane since 1967.

According to Federal Aviation Agency records, there were no fewer than 309 near-misses involving jet airliners last year—an average of almost one a day.

And with the vast, growing fleet of small private planes outnumbering the commercial airliners 50 to 1, officials say there has been no drop in the near-miss reports this year.

"We have no intent of minimizing the problem. It's serious," said an FAA expert.

Very few of the near-misses involve two commercial jets, FAA officials report, since the airlines fly rigidly separated routes, usually high in the air. Almost all of the incidents are combinations with private planes—or with military aircraft, which figure in a surprisingly high number.

Three of the nation's seven fatal airline jet passenger accidents since early 1967 have stemmed from collisions, all at low levels near airports where private planes swarm.

The first took 26 lives near Dayton, Ohio, when a light plane collided with a Trans

World Airlines DC9 approaching a landing. Later that year, 82 persons, including the secretary of the navy, were killed when a private plane that had missed a turn crashed into a Piedmont 727 taking off from Asheville, N.C.

Often only the split-second expertise of a skilled pilot can save a jet airliner from a near-miss. And the brush can leave even a veteran flier visibly shaken.

An American Airlines jet was climbing into a turn upon take-off from Chicago's busy O'Hare Airport this summer when it cut through a light curtain of clouds and found a stray private plane coming directly at it.

The veteran pilot slipped smoothly into a deep sideways dive to miss the twin-engine aircraft before the private pilot was even aware of how close he had come to triggering a tragedy.

But at the end of the flight in Washington, the airline pilot sighed and said, "Oh, boy!"

After the first crash near Dayton, a TWA pilot urged a federal safety hearing to require that all small planes radio their positions to control towers when near urban airports. For the busiest airport areas, the pilot said the planes should be required to have automatic signaling devices similar to those of jets to identify their locations.

Two years later the FAA has the proposal still under study.

2 Ohioans Escape Army Work Detail

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Two Ohioans escaped Tuesday from a disciplinary work detail at Fort Meade, according to Army authorities.

The Army said one or both men were wounded when military police supervising the work detail fired at the soldiers. The two were identified as Pvt. William T. Ashcraft, 20, Akron, and Spec. 4 Charles Frye, 23, Cleveland.

Texas A Loser On Sunflowers

KANSAS CITY (AP) — "It appears that the Sunflower State of Kansas has just put us in our place as far as sunflowers are concerned. We have been beaten."

With those words, Frank Atkins, manager of the Beeville-Bee County (Tex.) Chamber of Commerce, conceded that Kansas can outgrow it in sunflowers.

Beeville recently challenged Kansas to top a sunflower grown there that was 14½ inches in diameter.

C. B. Humphrey of Cottonwood Falls was one of the first to respond, with a sunflower 17½ inches in diameter.

Senate Plans Tax Credit Repeal Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders of the Senate Finance Committee have worked out a plan to complete action on repeal of the 7 per cent investment tax credit for business by the end of this month.

Their procedure involves lifting the investment credit repealer from the tax reform bill and attaching it to another House-passed measure extending the interest equalization tax. This is scheduled for Sept. 19.

President Nixon has urged Congress to extend the interest equalization tax, which expires Sept. 30, as part of the program to improve the U.S. international balance of payments position.

Many businessmen have protested the repeal of the investment credit, which amounts to a $3.3 billion annual tax benefit.

Under the credit, a company is permitted to subtract from its taxes due up to 7 per cent of its spending on new plants and equipment.

It was passed originally in 1962 but it has been criticized recently as a major contributor to inflation. Nixon has asked repeal.

Convict Ill From Tests At Prison Lab

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A convict from Warren, who became infected with malaria after volunteering as a human guinea pig during experiments at Atlanta federal penitentiary, was too ill for a hearing in U.S. District Court here Tuesday on a conspiracy charge.

John R. Dudley, 37, was scheduled to be sentenced on his plea of guilty in July to conspiracy involving the sale of stolen U. S. postal money orders.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Carl H. Miller said Dudley was a member of a gang responsible for distribution of about $500,000 worth of stolen money orders.

When he appeared before Judge Ben C. Green Tuesday, Dudley said he wanted to change his plea to innocent because he was too ill to know what he wanted to do.

Judge Green ordered him returned to Atlanta immediately for treatment after learning from federal probation officials that Dudley had been ill for several days as a result of the experiments.

Dudley is serving a three-year sentence on a white slavery conviction.

Lima Soldier Killed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department reported Tuesday another Ohioan, Army Pfc. Kenneth E. Foust, 635 W. Ewing Ave., Lima, has been killed in action in Vietnam.

Small Planes Figure In Many Air Tragedies

WASHINGTON (AP) — At most once a day the sleek, crowded airline jets that criss-cross the nation's skies have a close brush with the mass tragedy of a collision in the air.

More than half of all victims of commercial jet crashes in this country in the last 2½ years have died because of collisions with small private planes.

And while other areas of air safety are constantly improving, this is not.

The latest crash killed 83 persons Tuesday when, eyewitnesses said, an Allegheny Airlines DC9 jet was hit by a single-engine private plane as it was approaching a landing at Indianapolis. There were no survivors.

It was the third fatal collision involving a jetliner and a small plane since 1967.

According to Federal Aviation Agency records, there were no fewer than 309 near-misses involving jet airliners last year—an average of almost one a day.

And with the vast, growing fleet of small private planes outnumbering the commercial airliners 50 to 1, officials say there has been no drop in the near-miss reports this year.

"We have no intent of minimizing the problem. It's serious," said an FAA expert.

Very few of the near-misses involve two commercial jets, FAA officials report, since the airliners fly rigidly separated routes, usually high in the air. Almost all of the incidents are combinations with private planes—or with military aircraft, which figure in a surprisingly high number.

Three of the nation's seven fatal airline jet passenger accidents since early 1967 have stemmed from collisions, all at low levels near airports where private planes swarm.

The first took 26 lives near Dayton, Ohio, when a light plane collided with a Trans

World Airlines DC9 approaching a landing. Later that year, 82 persons, including the secretary of the navy, were killed when a private plane that had missed a turn crashed into a Piedmont 727 taking off from Asheville, N.C.

Often only the split-second expertise of a skilled pilot can save a jet airliner from a near-miss. And the brush can leave even a veteran flier visibly shaken.

An American Airlines jet was climbing into a turn upon take-off from Chicago's busy O'Hare Airport this summer when it cut through a light curtain of clouds and found a stray private plane coming directly at it.

The veteran pilot slipped smoothly into a deep sideways dive to miss the twin-engine aircraft before the private pilot was even aware of how close he had come to triggering a tragedy.

But at the end of the flight in Washington, the airline pilot sighed and said, "Oh, boy!"

After the first crash near Dayton, a TWA pilot urged a federal safety hearing to require that all small planes radio their positions to control towers when near urban airports. For the busiest airport areas, the pilot said the planes should be required to have automatic signaling devices similar to those of jets to identify their locations.

Two years later the FAA has the proposal still under study.

2 Ohioans Escape Army Work Detail

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Two Ohioans escaped Tuesday from a disciplinary work detail at Fort Meade, according to Army authorities.

The Army said one or both men were wounded when military police supervising the work detail fired at the soldiers. The two were identified as Pvt. William T. Ashcraft, 20, Akron, and Spec. 4 Charles Frye, 23, Cleveland.

Texas A Loser On Sunflowers

KANSAS CITY (AP) — "It appears that the Sunflower State of Kansas has just put us in our place as far as sunflowers are concerned. We have been beaten."

With those words, Frank Atkins, manager of the Beeville-Bee County (Tex.) Chamber of Commerce, conceded that Kansas can outgrow it in sunflowers.

Beeville recently challenged Kansas to top a sunflower grown there that was 14½ inches in diameter.

C. B. Humphrey of Cottonwood Falls was one of the first to respond, with a sunflower 17½ inches in diameter.

Senate Plans Tax Credit Repeal Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders of the Senate Finance Committee have worked out a plan to complete action on repeal of the 7 per cent investment tax credit for business by the end of this month.

Their procedure involves lifting the investment credit repealer from the tax reform bill and attaching it to another House-passed measure extending the interest equalization tax. This is scheduled for Sept. 19.

President Nixon has urged Congress to extend the interest equalization tax, which expires Sept. 30, as part of the program to improve the U.S. international balance of payments position.

Many businessmen have protested the repeal of the investment credit, which amounts to a $3.3 billion annual tax benefit.

Under the credit, a company is permitted to subtract from its taxes due up to 7 per cent of its spending on new plants and equipment.

It was passed originally in 1962 but it has been criticized recently as a major contributor to inflation. Nixon has asked repeal.

Convict III From Tests At Prison Lab

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A convict from Warren, who became infected with malaria after volunteering as a human guinea pig during experiments at Atlanta federal penitentiary, was too ill for a hearing in U.S. District Court here Tuesday on a conspiracy charge.

John R. Dudley, 37, was scheduled to be sentenced on his plea of guilty in July to conspiracy involving the sale of stolen U. S. postal money orders.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Carl H. Miller said Dudley was a member of a gang responsible for distribution of about $500,000 worth of stolen money orders.

When he appeared before Judge Ben C. Green Tuesday, Dudley said he wanted to change his plea to innocent because he was too ill to know what he wanted to do.

Judge Green ordered him returned to Atlanta immediately for treatment after learning from federal probation officials that Dudley had been ill for several days as a result of the experiments.

Dudley is serving a three-year sentence on a white slavery conviction.

Lima Soldier Killed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department reported Tuesday another Ohioan, Army Pfc. Kenneth E. Foust, 635 W. Ewing Ave., Lima, has been killed in action in Vietnam.

Ohio Highway Patrol Awarded State Grant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A $100,000 grant has been awarded to the Ohio Highway Patrol to develop a statewide "wanted" persons and warrants system.

Director Albert G. Giles of the State Department of Urban Affairs said $66,000 came from the Ohio Law Enforcement Agency and the remainder from the state.

VC Fail To Defect As Project Chief Hopes

SUOI MUON, Vietnam (AP) — The kids had fun and the older people were not hostile, but on a head-count basis the campaign in Suoi Muon to get Viet Cong agents to defect was a flop.

"We haven't had any turn themselves in so far, but we still may have some," Amador Maik, adviser for the Tay Ninh

Province Chieu Hoi — open arms — program, said.

Maik, of Bateria, Philippines, was the ramrod of a five-day campaign in a string of hamlets along the fringe of Tay Ninh city, 55 miles northwest of Saigon. The work was carried out, however, by a platoon of former Viet Cong guerrillas who had switched their allegiance to the government and who are now members of an armed propaganda team.

When the team arrived in Suoi Muon from the Tay Ninh Chieu Hoi compound for the day's "fair," they were the only young men in the hamlet. Suoi Muon's youths have been swept up by the war and are serving as government troops or Viet Cong.

The hamlet chief had provided the Chieu Hoi team a list of a half-dozen families that were known to have sons or fathers with the Viet Cong and these were the primary targets of the campaign.

"We don't think there are many Viet Cong agents in the hamlet right now," Maik said.

There is a militia outpost within 300 yards of Suoi Muon, but at dark the government troops seal themselves inside the post and the Viet Cong can move unchallenged into the hamlet.

To weaken Suoi Muon's sympathy for the Viet Cong, Maik had organized the fair, scheduling a medical clinic, free haircuts, volleyball games, house-to-house visits, a movie and entertainment by six singers.

The Chieu Hoi team—a dozen young men and three teen-aged girls who also had been Viet Cong guerrillas—carried bundles of propaganda posters and pamphlets.

Nearly 100 villagers were treated at the clinic set up in one room of the small school, while children recited their lessons in the other room. A line of shaggy haired youngsters formed across the street where two ex-guerrillas were giving haircuts.

In the afternoon, the propaganda team started house calls with the hamlet chief's list.

One elderly woman accepted a handful of pamphlets but stoutly disagreed when one of the Chieu Hoi men suggested her son was with the Viet Cong. She said she had three sons and they were all in the South Vietnamese army.

"That is untrue," said the hamlet chief, who trailed along behind the propaganda team.

House after house was found vacant and one team member said it was a bad time; most of the people were out working in the field.

Maik had to cancel the movie when he found out the projector was broken. He still hoped to attract Suoi Muon's adults to the song and dance show but at dusk it began to rain—a steady, heavy downpour and even the show was called off.

Maik was not discouraged and he planned another fair in another hamlet.

"We have to keep trying," he said. "Maybe we planted the seed today that will produce some hoi chanh (defectors) tomorrow."

Admit Lax Collection Of Bad Debts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department, under fire for collecting less than half the government's bad debts, agreed Tuesday the chore has sometimes been neglected in the past.

But it said a mounting criminal caseload "requires us to be realistic concerning the amount of resources and emphasis which can be allocated to collections work at present."

Although the Justice Department won $383 million in bad debts, fines, penalties and forfeitures from court judgments in the past four years, the agency has collected only $163.2 million, according to a congressional study reported by the Associated Press last week. This is a collection rate of 42 per cent.

The House government operations subcommittee, which had the study prepared, called Justice officials in today to explain why they couldn't do better.

"The dollar amount of uncollected judgments compels us not to permit the collection function to be neglected as it sometimes has been," Associate Deputy Atty. Gen. George H. Revercomb told the subcommittee in prepared testimony.

"We shall try to take a balanced and reasonable approach," he said, "giving the necessary emphasis to the work of collections."

Involved are the full range of court-won debts to the government—back taxes, defaulted Federal Housing Administration and Small Business Administration loans, damage claims, fines for violation of federal laws and all the rest.

Britain Sees Trade Boom

LONDON (AP) — Britain is likely to have a surplus in its balance of payments this year for the first time in eight years, Chancellor of the Exchequer Roy Jenkins says.

Jenkins told a meeting of businessmen Monday that the trend of Britain's trade with other nations is "very favorable," and added: "We have been paying our way since the beginning of this year and all the signs are that we are moving into a substantial surplus."

He said exports have risen 13 per cent this year. If they keep rising the nation can expect good economic growth and a healthy job situation in the next 12 months, he added.

Such a development could greatly improve the presently dim chances that Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor party will be able to win the next national election, expected in the fall of 1970.

Britain's trade monthly deficit has ranged between $28.8 million and $153.6 million every month this year.

Rugg Announces Bid For Auditor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Samuel H. Rugg, 39, of Newark, announced Tuesday as a Democratic candidate for state auditor in the 1970 primary election.

Rugg, senior vice president of the E. T. Rugg Co. of Newark, until his resignation Aug. 1, is a native of Newark. He attended Deerfield Academy and Amherst College. He is married and the father of two children.

Rugg is a friend of John C. McDonald of Newark, Democratic minority leader in the House. Rugg said he entered the race with the "blessing" of State Democratic headquarters.

Director Albert G. Giles of the State Department of Urban Affairs said $66,000 came from the Ohio Law Enforcement Agency and the remainder from the state.

Ohio Highway Patrol Awarded State Grant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A $100,000 grant has been awarded to the Ohio Highway Patrol to develop a statewide "wanted" persons and warrants system.

Director Albert G. Giles of the State Department of Urban Affairs said $66,000 came from the Ohio Law Enforcement Agency and the remainder from the state.

VC Fail To Defect As Project Chief Hopes

SUOI MUON, Vietnam (AP) — The kids had fun and the older people were not hostile, but on a head-count basis the campaign in Suoi Muon to get Viet Cong agents to defect was a flop.

"We haven't had any turn themselves in so far, but we still may have some," Amador Maik, adviser for the Tay Ninh

Province Chieu Hoi — open arms — program, said.

Maik, of Bateria, Philippines, was the ramrod of a five-day campaign in a string of hamlets along the fringe of Tay Ninh city, 55 miles northwest of Saigon. The work was carried out, however, by a platoon of former Viet Cong guerrillas who had switched their allegiance to the government and who are now members of an armed propaganda team.

When the team arrived in Suoi Muon from the Tay Ninh Chieu Hoi compound for the day's "fair," they were the only young men in the hamlet. Suoi Muon's youths have been swept up by the war and are serving as government troops or Viet Cong.

The hamlet chief had provided ed the Chieu Hoi team a list of a half-dozen families that were known to have sons or fathers with the Viet Cong and these were the primary targets of the campaign.

"We don't think there are many Viet Cong agents in the hamlet right now," Maik said.

There is a militia outpost within 300 yards of Suoi Muon, but at dark the government troops seal themselves inside the post and the Viet Cong can move unchallenged into the hamlet.

To weaken Suoi Muon's sympathy for the Viet Cong, Maik had organized the fair, scheduling a medical clinic, free haircuts, volleyball games, house-to-house visits, a movie and entertainment by six singers.

The Chieu Hoi team—a dozen young men and three teen-aged girls who also had been Viet Cong guerrillas—carried bundles of propaganda posters and pamphlets.

Nearly 100 villagers were treated at the clinic set up in one room of the small school, while children recited their lessons in the other room. A line of shaggy haired youngsters formed across the street where two ex-guerrillas were giving haircuts.

In the afternoon, the propaganda team started house calls with the hamlet chief's list.

One elderly woman accepted a handful of pamphlets but stoutly disagreed when one of the Chieu Hoi men suggested her son was with the Viet Cong. She said she had three sons and they were all in the South Vietnamese army.

"That is untrue," said the hamlet chief, who trailed along behind the propaganda team.

House after house was found vacant and one team member said it was a bad time; most of the people were out working in the field.

Maik had to cancel the movie when he found out the projector was broken. He still hoped to attract Suoi Muon's adults to the song and dance show but at dusk it began to rain—a steady, heavy downpour and even the show was called off.

Maik was not discouraged and he planned another fair in another hamlet.

"We have to keep trying," he said. "Maybe we planted the seed today that will produce some hoi chanh (defectors) tomorrow."

Dubcek On The Way Out But Won't Confess 'Guilt'

PRAGUE (AP) — Alexander Dubcek is going to be driven from public life, Czech informants report, but they say he is refusing to make the traditional confession of guilt.

Dubcek's successor as Communist party chief, Gustav Husak, and other leaders now in power recently accepted Soviet charges that Dubcek's failure to curb "counter revolutionaries" and "anti-Communists" in 1968 justified the Soviet invasion.

The regime plans to remove Dubcek from the 11-member party presidium within a few weeks, informants said. Dubcek's departure from his government job, the presidency of the federal parliament, is expected to follow.

Dubcek, 47, upset the timetable at a presidium meeting last week, the sources said, when he refused to perform the traditional Communist ritual of self-criticism. It was thought that he did not want to break faith with the millions of Czechs and Slovaks who supported his reform regime. In addition self-criticism and admission of errors by Dubcek today could become the basis for trials of his supporters tomorrow.

Dubcek reportedly reminded the presidium that premier Oldrich Cernik and Jan Piller, another presidium member, voted with him for the presidium's resolution condemning the invasion.

The sources said Dubcek also protested by letter to Husak about 10 days of personal attacks against him over Prague Radio, and as a result Husak ordered a halt to attacks naming Dubcek.

The sources said Dubcek's resistance, coupled with the cheers given the former leader in numerous cities last month, caused the presidium to have some second thoughts. The result was a delay while Husak and his allies try to work out a formula to oust Dubcek even without self-criticism.

Drug Situation Bad, Cook Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The man assigned the task of helping to curb drug usage among Ohio's youths, thinks the situation "is just as bad as I suspected."

Albert D. Cook, a 52-year-old former Treasury Department narcotics agent was hired last March by Atty. Gen. Paul Brown to assess the drug traffic in Ohio.

He said today that "I guess I was hoping I was wrong, but the situation is at least as bad as we thought it would be. . . . The situation seems to be that in junior high schools you'll see drugs occasionally, in high schools you will find it frequently, and on college campuses it's inevitable."

Alaska Eyes $1 Billion Oil Bids

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — The State of Alaska opens bids today on what it hopes will be $1 billion in leases on part of its vast new arctic oil fields.

Gov. Keith Miller declared, "We won't take a nickel less than the value we have set."

Representatives of the world's major oil companies jammed oiltrucks Anchorage for the biggest such lease sale in history.

By nightfall the high bidders will be known and a chartered jet will be flying to New York with checks from the winning oil companies. Most of the companies will draw checks on New York banks.

The oilmen assemble in a 659-seat municipal auditorium at 7 a.m. Alaska Daylight Time, (Noon EDT) to hand in their sealed bids. The bidding closes an hour later, and state officials said it may be seven hours before the tabulation is completed.

The Republican governor reminded Alaskans in a statewide broadcast Tuesday night that the state has set "floor bids" on each of the 179 tracts up for lease. "Floor bids" are confidential figures on how much the state considers each lease to be worth. Alaska won't sell the leases for less, Miller said.

Under state law, each of the 460,858 acres on the block must go for $1 per acre for 10 years. But the law doesn't prevent the state from collecting "bonus bids" from the oil companies on each acre. Thus, a firm might bid $1 per acre and throw in a bonus of several thousand dollars per acre.

The governor also noted that Alaska is leasing only a third of the land available for oil production on the North Slope, where one of the world's richest petroleum deposits was discovered a year ago. The rest of the land probably will be leased later.

The street scene in Anchorage Tuesday night was reminiscent of gold rush days. Tight-lipped oil tycoons and their bankers in pin-striped suits mingled with roustabouts just back from the oil fields, their pockets bulging with money after a month's work.

Hotels were jammed and some bankers slept on the DC8 jet chartered by the Bank of America to haul the winning checks to banks so they can begin drawing interest immediately.

Ohio Commissioners Of Health Meet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 50th annual conference of the Ohio Health Commissioners and the Department of Health, and the 9th annual meeting of the Association of Ohio Health Commissioners opens here today.

Autumn-Like Chill Covers Much Of U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An autumn-flavored chill settled over most of the nation from the Rockies to the Atlantic today and dropped temperatures into the 40s and 50s before daybreak.

The mercury fell into the frosty 30s in the Upper Great Lakes region and settled into the middle 50s as far south as Georgia.

Skies cleared over New England during the night following a windy and rainy brush from hurricane Gerda. The storm blew into Canada's maritime provinces late Tuesday night.

Damage was relatively light as Gerda swept northeastward. Highest winds clocked on the U.S. mainland were about 50 miles an hour.

Occasionally heavy rain hit some coastal sections of Maine. More than four inches fell at Portland and over 2½ inches soaked Eastport.

Showers and thundershowers dampened scattered portions of the Rockies in the pre-dawn hours, but rainfall amounts generally were light.

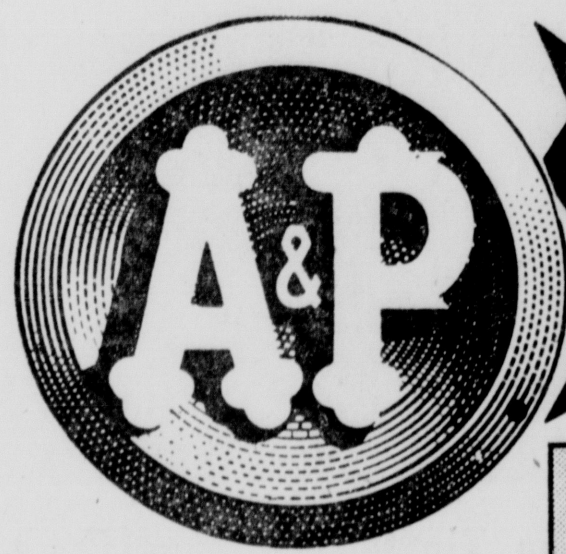

Student Radicals Said Expanding To High Schools

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An attorney for Columbia University told state university officials Tuesday student radicalism on the nation's campus has not ended and is spreading to high schools.

The New York attorney, Edward C. Kalaidjian, was one of several speakers to address some 60 university officials attending a three-day seminar on campus security at the Ohio Highway Patrol Academy.

Ohio Atty. Gen. Paul Brown said he has had inquiries from about five campus groups concerning his proposal to enlist college students as security aides. He said the students would wear arm bands for identification and have authority to act in quelling disorders.

Kalaidjian said he thought the idea has potential if Brown can win student support for it.

Dubcek On The Way Out But Won't Confess 'Guilt'

PRAGUE (AP) — Alexander Dubcek is going to be driven from public life, Czech informants report, but they say he is refusing to make the traditional confession of guilt.

Dubcek's successor as Communist party chief, Gustav Husak, and other leaders now in power recently accepted Soviet charges that Dubcek's failure to curb "counter-revolutionaries" and anti-Communists in 1968 justified the Soviet invasion.

In addition self-criticism and admission of errors by Dubcek today could become the basis for trials of his supporters tomorrow.

Dubcek reportedly reminded the presidium that premier Oldrich Cernik and Jan Piller, another presidium member, voted with him for the presidium's resolution condemning the invasion.

The sources said Dubcek also protested by letter to Husak about 10 days of personal attacks against him over Prague Radio, and as a result Husak ordered a halt to attacks naming Dubcek.

The sources said Dubcek's resistance, coupled with the cheers given the former leader in numerous cities last month, caused the presidium to have some second thoughts. The result was a delay while Husak and his allies try to work out a formula to oust Dubcek even without self-criticism.

Drug Situation Bad, Cook Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The man assigned the task of helping to curb drug usage among Ohio's youths, thinks the situation "is just as bad as I suspected."

Albert D. Cook, a 52-year-old former Treasury Department narcotics agent was hired last March by Atty. Gen. Paul Brown to assess the drug traffic in Ohio.

He said today that "I guess I was hoping I was wrong, but the situation is at least as bad as we thought it would be." The situation seems to be that in junior high schools you'll see drugs occasionally, in high schools you will find it frequently, and on college campuses it's inevitable.

Alaska Eyes $1 Billion Oil Bids

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — The State of Alaska opens bids today on what it hopes will be $1 billion in leases on part of its vast new arctic oil fields.

Gov. Keith Miller declared, "We won't take a nickel less than the value we have set."

Representatives of the world's major oil companies jammed oilstruck Anchorage for the biggest such lease sale in history.

By nightfall the high bidders will be known and a chartered jet will be flying to New York with checks from the winning oil companies. Most of the companies will draw checks on New York banks.

The oilmen assemble in a 659-seat municipal auditorium at 7 a.m. Alaska Daylight Time, (Noon EDT) to hand in their sealed bids. The bidding closes an hour later, and state officials said it may be seven hours before the tabulation is completed.

The Republican governor reminded Alaskans in a statewide broadcast Tuesday night that the state has set "floor bids" on each of the 179 tracts up for lease. "Floor bids" are confidential figures on how much the state considers each lease to be worth. Alaska won't sell the leases for less, Miller said.

Under state law, each of the 460,858 acres on the block must go for $1 per acre for 10 years. But the law doesn't prevent the state from collecting "bonus bids" from the oil companies on each acre. Thus, a firm might bid $1 per acre and throw in a bonus of several thousand dollars per acre.

The governor also noted that Alaska is leasing only a third of the land available for oil production on the North Slope, where one of the world's richest petroleum deposits was discovered a year ago. The rest of the land probably will be leased later.

The street scene in Anchorage Tuesday night was reminiscent of gold rush days. Tight-lipped oil tycoons and their bankers in pin-striped suits mingled with roustabouts just back from the oil fields, their pockets bulging with money after a month's work.

Hotels were jammed and some bankers slept on the DC8 jet chartered by the Bank of America to haul the winning checks to banks so they can begin drawing interest immediately.

Highlight of the three-day gathering will be State Health Director Emmett W. Arnold's annual report today.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 50th annual conference of the Ohio Health Commissioners and the Department of Health, and the 9th annual meeting of the Association of Ohio Health Commissioners opens here today.

Autumn-Like Chill Covers Much Of U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An autumn-flavored chill settled over most of the nation from the Rockies to the Atlantic today and dropped temperatures into the 40s and 50s before daybreak.

The mercury fell into the frosty 30s in the Upper Great Lakes region and settled into the middle 50s as far south as Georgia.

Skies cleared over New England during the night following a windy and rainy brush from hurricane Gerda. The storm blew into Canada's maritime provinces late Tuesday night.

Damage was relatively light as Gerda swept northeastward. Highest winds clocked on the U.S. mainland were about 50 miles an hour.

Occasionally heavy rain hit some coastal sections of Maine. More than four inches fell at Portland and over 2½ inches soaked Eastport.

Showers and thundershowers dampened scattered portions of the Rockies in the pre-dawn hours, but rainfall amounts generally were light.

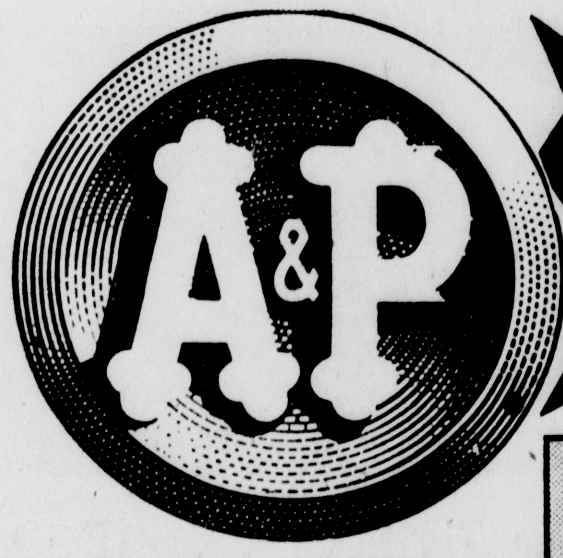

Student Radicals Said Expanding To High Schools

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An attorney for Columbia University told state university officials Tuesday student radicalism on the nation's campus has not ended and is spreading to high schools.

The New York attorney, Edward C. Kalaidjian, was one of several speakers to address some 60 university officials attending a three-day seminar on campus security at the Ohio Highway Patrol Academy.

Ohio Atty. Gen. Paul Brown said he has had inquiries from about five campus groups concerning his proposal to enlist college students as security aides. He said the students would wear arm bands for identification and have authority to act in quelling disorders.

Kalaidjian said he thought the idea has potential if Brown can win student support for it.

Cost Of Western White House Use Spirals

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — With President Nixon's month-long working vacation behind them, officials charged with day-to-day operation of the Western White House are adding up the bills and working out more permanent plans—like who's to mow the lawn.

The cost of Nixon's tenancy here runs well into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Government per diem for the president's official entourage, for example, apparently tops the $100,000 mark alone.

Several major items, such as setting up offices next to the President's San Clemente home and installation of communications were essentially one-time tasks.

But housekeeping details—like whether the Coast Guard, the General Services Administration or a private contractor should mow the newly turfed lawn—remain to be settled as plans for a four year, or perhaps eight year, use of the Western White House are laid.

Precisely what it costs for the President to work here the past month will not be made public. Some of the biggest cost items—installation and operation of the elaborate communications system, for instance—are closely guarded government secrets.

"If we said what communications cost, then someone could figure out what our communications capability is from that dollar figure," said Ronald Ziegler, presidential press secretary. Communications costs are part of the Army Signal Corps and thus Defense Department budgets.

The network established at San Clemente, Ziegler said, is essentially the same as is set up for a presidential visit to any place out of Washington for three days or longer.

Other costs are scattered throughout the budgets of numerous government agencies, making accounting complex.

The erection and first year's lease of two administration buildings at the Western White House cost slightly more than $100,000.

These were built in less than two months by a Los Angeles firm at a Coast Guard base next to Nixon's recently purchased $240,000 residence on five acres of land overlooking the Pacific Ocean.

In addition, the General Services Administration spent about $70,000 more to partition, furnish and otherwise prepare the flat-roofed prefabricated structures.

Transporting, housing and feeding the hundreds of persons who came to San Clemente on business for periods ranging from a day to the full month added to the government's costs.

So-called courier planes, smaller jets carrying eight or so passengers, made flights three times a week from Washington to San Clemente, bringing both officials and documents.

Air Force One, the presidential jet, or a similar plane joined the run when necessary to bring a large group such as the full cabinet to meet in San Clemente. Actual flying time costs of these big jets is $400 an hour, Ziegler said.

About ten black limousines were on call at San Clemente for the month. All were driven from Washington. Figuring 15 cents per mile operating costs, simply getting them here and back would total about $9,000.

Rounding out the transportation available to Nixon and his staff were a fleet of nine electrically powered golf carts and several bicycles.

The bulk of the staff supporting the President stayed in a resort motel about five minutes drive from the Western White House.

Government personnel occupied between 100 and 120 rooms of the 130-room establishment each night of Nixon's stay. Calculating some double occupancies and a special rate of $8 per person per night granted by inn owner Paul Presley produces a bill there of perhaps $36,000.

Some staff members stayed at a Laguna Beach motel along with members of the news media.

Short term visitors such as cabinet members stayed principally at a luxury resort hotel at Newport Beach, about 30 minutes drive up the Pacific coast. During last week's cabinet meeting at San Clemente, for example, 35 rooms were taken at the plush hotel for two nights each.

A steady stream of visitors came to San Clemente during the month. For example: Six newly appointed ambassadors on Aug. 19th; the Advisory Council on Executive Reorganization Aug. 20th; the Urban Affairs Council Aug. 25th; top economic advisers Aug. 28th.

Groups such as the six ambassadors flew individually from their homes throughout the country by commercial plane. If such visitors live in the west, the cost was less than going to Washington—and thus a deduction against other added costs of the western operation.

Some top administration officials, such as Attorney General John Mitchell and Secretary of State William P. Rogers, rented homes for the month at up to $1,000—the bulk of which they paid themselves since the costs exceed the standard $16 per day government allowance for meals, lodging and miscellaneous expenses of traveling officials.

Seven such homes were made available by local residents who agreed to take their vacations during Nixon's presence, said inn owner Presley who helped make the arrangements.

Salary costs associated with the Western White House were essentially unchanged from Washington since virtually all personnel was simply transplanted. Eighteen White House police took over some patrol duties. Many Secret Service agents were on hand—as they always are wherever the President is.

The manpower at the Coast Guard's San Mateo Point Station on which the White House offices were built was not increased from its usual 10 to 12 men.

But the four seamen who usually stand watch and mow weeds found themselves instead manning new sod and other landscaping touches installed to spruce up the area.

The station's heliport—formerly also a ballfield—was paved. Fencing was added around some areas of the 47-acre facility.

Besides the coast guardsmen,

The Circleville Herald, Wed. Sept. 10, 1969 15

Circleville, Ohio

Marines from nearby bases were called on to drive the White House limousines. As is standard with a presidential helicopter, a military crash crew was continually on duty.

Costs of Nixon's house in San Clemente are borne by him personally, including such items as the salaries of family help and the gardening of his personal grounds.

Governor Opens 1-Day Workshop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes, opening a one-day workshop on employment of the handicapped Tuesday, said "one of the best investments the State of Ohio makes is its investment in helping handicapped persons to help themselves."

The workshop, sponsored by the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped and the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services, held at the Southern Hotel, is aimed at expanding employment of handicapped persons.

"For every $1,000 invested in the rehabilitation of a disabled person," the governor said, "his lifetime earnings increase $53,000, according to statistical records. The growth in his earning power, the taxes he pays on income, and the reduction in public assistance and disability payments more than repay the original investment by a great margin."

Governor Opens 1-Day Workshop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes, opening a one-day workshop on employment of the handicapped Tuesday, said "one of the best investments the State of Ohio makes is its investment in helping handicapped persons to help themselves."

The workshop, sponsored by the Governor's Committee on Employment of the handicapped and the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services, held at the Southern Hotel, is aimed at expanding employment of handicapped persons.

"For every $1,000 invested in the rehabilitation of a disabled person," the governor said, "his lifetime earnings increase $53,000, according to statistical records. The growth in his earning power, the taxes he pays on income, and the reduction in public assistance and disability payments more than repay the original investment by a great margin."

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — One may not agree with the conclusions drawn by Theodore H. White in "The Making of the President: 1968," but they gave the CBS program Tuesday night a point of view and jumping-off place in an effort to give some shape and form to a jumble of events.

White, writer and political analyst, opened the program by expressing belief that somewhere among the "lunatic events" of the election year—riots, resistance, assassination and an unpopular distant war—"the old politics died." In electing Richard M. Nixon by a narrow popular vote, he maintained, the American electorate "violently rejected the past, yet it gave no clear mandate for the future."

Based on White's book of the same name, the television program suffered primarily because there was just too much material to cram into 90 minutes.

While, in White's view, "television colored and shaped every move" of the campaigning, there was not enough revealing, fresh film and tape to illustrate the program's well written text.

The program was at its best when it used bits of interviews, informal shots, to summarize trends, moods or attitudes. It had a tendency to linger overlong on the more familiar scenes—the shocked partisans when Robert F. Kennedy was shot, the battles of police and young demonstrators at Chicago, the platform speeches.

Many aspects of the campaign defied the camera, particularly the explanations of political tactics. Thus White's smooth script, narrated by Joseph Campanella and occasionally by White himself was most helpful.

White's reactions to the candidates and his descriptions were particularly interesting:

Nixon—"Shy and inward-turning, he nonetheless has cut his mark upon the past as a bitter partisan."

Kennedy—"Wistful and pugnacious, haunted by past tragedy yet echoing tomorrow's hopes."

McCarthy—"Graceful, lean and easy, his cool, clean style breaks totally with the rhetoric of the past."

What seems in retrospect to have been a tangle of events took on, during the program, some sort of order and even sense. It also impressed the viewer with the incredible trauma of 12 months—White called it "the year of the grotesque."

Blind School Teacher Does Well During 1st Day On Job

NEW YORK (AP) — One little boy turned in a blank sheet of paper for classwork and several children tried to sneak out of their seats. But otherwise it was a normal first day of classes for New York's first blind public school teacher.

"I shall grade it accordingly with a zero," said the teacher, Alexander J. Chavich, 38. "I don't think I shall have to worry about a blank piece of paper again unless the guy is absolutely suicidal."

The students who attempted to leave their seats quickly discovered Chavich can slightly see light and was aware of their movement. He returned them to their seats, somewhat astonished.

Sorry Folks, Wrong Number

BRUNSVILLE, Va. (AP) — For 25 years John H. Folks, 69, waited for this remote Allegheny Mountain community to establish telephone service. In August, when the Williamsville-Mountain Grove Telephone Co. made the final hookups, Folks was one of the first to have his phone installed.

After two weeks of waiting, his phone finally rang.

It was the wrong number.

But the day in Macombs Junior High School, located in a disadvantaged area of the Bronx, was not without problems, said Principal Milton Stier.

Furniture had to be rigidly arranged so Chavich would not bump into it. Students were told to speak out for attention instead of raising their hands.

Chavich was excused from luncheon monitor duty when it became apparent he could not handle 500 youngsters swirling about.

His textbook is being transcribed into braille and he will hire, at his own expense, someone to read aloud written school work.

"I've been told by my colleagues I was foolish to accept him," said Stier, "but I think it's wonderful for the children—not to the extent he's blind but that he's overcome it. They feel they will fail because they are disadvantaged. Here's a man who is really disadvantaged."

"It's also a good example for the teachers. If he can control his class, they who are able to sighted ought to be able to. What's their excuse?"

For the most part the students were fascinated with their new music teacher, asked him about his blindness and how he learned to read. Chavich explained about braille and distributed a leaflet about the blind in braille and print.

For Chavich, a graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and the Manhattan School of Music, the teaching job signals the culmination of a long fight for a teacher's license.

"The day was very exciting, very busy and a tremendous learning experience," said Chavich, "Now I want to do some good teaching."

Apollo Crewmen Plan World Tour

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — The Apollo 11 astronauts will make Mexico the first stop on a world tour beginning Sept. 29 or Sept. 30.

Announcing this at a meeting Monday with President Nixon, President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz of Mexico said:

"We will make our best efforts to receive these three intrepid heroes as they deserve to be received."

Parisians, besieged by the Prussian army in 1870 - 71, sent out crated homing pigeons by balloon. The birds returned with more than a million photographed messages — one of the earliest military uses of microphotography.

'Sophomore' Gets Degree In Philosophy

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Robert Arnold Mertzman, 20-year-old Dayton resident, has received a master's degree in philosophy just 12 months after he entered Ohio University as a freshman, and while still technically a sophomore.

The university said that this week, after completing five years of academic work in a total of 23 months, young Mertzman was awarded his graduate degree for what OU officials said is "one of the most significant student academic accomplishments" in the school's history.

Mertzman had started his thesis for a master's degree by the end of his freshman year and moved from undergraduate to graduate student status at the end of 81 credit hours of work. Normally it takes 180 credit hours to obtain an undergraduate degree and qualify for graduate study.

He had made good grades in elementary, junior and senior high school but was often bored with class work. In his senior year, for economic reasons, he quit to drive a truck during the day, but resumed and finished high school at the Dayton Public Night School.

He moved through college at a faster pace, he said, because it cost less and because he felt more comfortable moving along at his own speed.

Later this month, assisted by a $4,000-per-year government fellowship, Mertzman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Mertzman, will begin work toward his doctoral degree at the University of Indiana.

Camera Burglar Must Be Novice

BERTRAND, Neb. (AP)—A thief broke into the Kuhn Drug Store Aug. 24 and took a camera priced at $20.

After another break-in Monday night, the camera is back on the shelf but a camera of the same make and three times as costly is missing.

In the latest break-in the thief remembered to take film, among other items. But the stolen film is the wrong size to fit the missing camera.

acquitted of a charge of murdering her two years ago.

An Ashland County Common Pleas Court jury of six men and six women reached their verdict 10 minutes after a lunch break Tuesday, ending deliberations which began late Monday.

Hodges, 28, talking outside the Ashland County Jail where he was released, said his future plans were to "go home and become Mark Hodges again." The former Beaverdam service station operator said he hoped to return to the service station business.

Miss Kern, Sylvania, 20-year-old niece of Ohio AFL-CIO President Frank King, was slain in October, 1967. Her shot and stabbed body was found Oct. 30, the day after she stopped her car for service at Hodges' station.

In Hodges' first-degree murder trial, the prosecution contended that he followed Miss Kern, forced her into his car, shot and killed her, and then left her body in a ditch near Perrysburg.

Hodges' attorney, Joseph D. DaPore, said the trial was decided on ballistics. He said the bullets taken from Miss Kern's body did not match test bullets taken from Hodges' gun as alleged by the prosecution.

Hodges earlier was tried in Henry and Madison counties on a charge of shooting with intent to kill. That charge stemmed from the August 1967 shooting of Napoleon High School senior Denise Fortner.

The first trial, in Henry County, resulted in a hung jury. In the second trial, in Madison County, Hodges was acquitted. His murder trial was held in Ashland on a change of venue from Wood County.

Governor Says Smoke Screen Is Invaluable

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—Gov. Marvin Mandel has pleaded guilty to frequently throwing up a smoke screen when confronted by inquiring reporters.

Mandel told the Lions Club Tuesday that his habit of lighting up and puffing on one of the more than 225 pipes in his collection when dealing with newsmen has a hidden purpose:

"I've been in public office since 1952, and I learned very early in the game that when you're besieged by reporters, you have to have time to think," he said.

"So every time they ask me a question, I put the pipe in my mouth, take out a match and light the pipe. By the time I puff on it a couple of times, I have the answer."

How Safe Is Your Mouthwash?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—How safe is your mouthwash?

A dentist professor at Ohio State University is seeking an effective method of testing mouthwashes to answer several questions about the hygienic practice.

Dr. Samuel Rosen, director of the research project, says it isn't uncommon for one hundred million micro-organisms to be found in a milliliter of saliva from the human mouth.

He wants to learn how many such organisms will be killed by mouthwash and how long the washes are effective.

"There really hasn't been an extensive study on the antimicrobial effectiveness of mouthwashes," he said, "and at present no other group is involved in a study like ours, which will eventually provide a way to gather such data."

Rosen has charge of 30,000 small dishes he uses to grow bacteria collected from diluted saliva samples from human mouths.

He takes some samples before rinsing with mouthwashes and four samples at intervals after rinsing.

Road Work Bids Opened In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Bids were opened by the Ohio department of Highways Tuesday on a section of the proposed U.S. 68 bypass aimed at traffic relief for Springfield.

Carl M. Geupel Construction Co. of Worthington submitted the apparent low bid of $6.2 million for the third section of the four-phase bypass project situated between U.S. 40 and Ohio 72 in Clark County. The state estimate was $7.7 million.

The 4.5-mile project calls for grade separations with the Erie, Detroit-Toledo and Ironton, and Eagle City Railroads, and a bridge over Mad River. The final section is set for bids on Oct. 21.

In another Clark County project, for improving Ohio 571 and construction of one bridge, the apparent low bidder was Franz Brothers Inc. of Sidney at $253,132. The state estimate was $272,000.

The only other major projects included:

LICKING COUNTY—Paving and constructing two bridges on 1.18 miles of Ohio 13; apparent low bid Purdy Construction Co. of Mansfield $524,545; state estimate $569,500.

VINTON—Paving 1.776 miles of Ohio 160; apparent low bid Harley E. Calvin & Co., Marietta, $300,460; state estimate $455,000.

Negro, Sheriff Lead Detroit Vote

DETROIT (AP)—A Negro county auditor and a white sheriff emerged today as the winners of Tuesday's nonpartisan primary to nominate two candidates for mayor.

The two—Wayne County Auditor Richard Austin and Sheriff Roman Gribbs—topped a field of 28 seeking the majority in the nation's fifth largest city.

Third was City Councilwoman Mary V. Beck, who campaigned on a strong "law-and-order" platform.

With returns in from all of the city's 1,111 precincts, Austin had 124,941 votes; Gribbs 105,640 and Miss Beck 71,065.

Austin campaigned as a liberal and Gribbs as a moderate in a municipal election regarded as the first test of Detroit's racial climate since the city was wracked by riots in 1967.

With less than one-fifth of the vote counted, Austin issued a victory statement, and then went to bed.

He said: "We have campaigned hard on the issues. We have made it clear then when elected, we will be mayor of all the people and not just some of the people."

The two top finishers will face each other in a Nov. 4 general election. The winner will succeed Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, who decided not to seek a third four-year term.

Voters turned out in unexpectedly large numbers, especially in the dominantly Negro inner-city precincts where Austin gained his heaviest vote. In most white precincts, Austin trailed Gribbs and Miss Beck.

The city is 40 per cent Negro. City election officials pegged the unofficial voter turnout at 338,434, or 47.8 per cent of the 707,837 registered voters. It was the highest percentage recorded in a city primary since 1937.

As a self-proclaimed moderate, Gribbs shied away from the "law-and-order" tag in the campaign.

"I'd rather classify myself as a candidate for order and justice under the law," he said.

Both Gribbs, 43, and Austin, 56, were endorsed by Detroit's two metropolitan daily newspapers and the nonpartisan Civic Searchlight organization.

Gribbs, a former assistant prosecuting attorney, also had the backing of the Detroit Police Officers Association. Austin received the stamp of approval of the influential United Auto Workers Union.

Austin, born in Alabama, the son of an itinerant coal miner, fought his way through poverty to become Michigan's first Negro certified public accountant.

Miss Beck, 61, a severe critic of Mayor Cavanagh, had vowed to "sweep Detroit free of crime and corruption and every form of pollution, and to make our streets, our homes and our business places safe and wholesome once again."

ADC said three drone targets left Tyndall Air Force Base in Florida Tuesday on their 38th flights, surpassing the old record of 37 and far surpassing the average life of the Ryan Firebee drones of 15 flights.

The Air Force said the longer life has saved more than $630,000 in replacement costs. Each drone cost $135,000 new.

Giants, Cubs Are National League Division Leaders

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Spitball charges, chants of "goodbye Leo," and a winning single by a kid who wants to stay in the big time. That's the good old National League for you.

En route to the outfield in the second inning Tuesday night, Cincinnati's Pete Rose complained to umpire Andy Olsen that Gaylord Perry was throwing spitballs. Out of the game went Rose, seven innings later down went the Reds, 7-4, to San Francisco, and back into first in the NL West went the Giants.

Manager Leo Durocher sat in a Shea Stadium dugout, listened to chants of "Goodbye Leo, Goodbye Leo, we're glad to see you go" and watched his Chicago Cubs lose to New York 7-1, have their NL East lead cut to one-half game and actually fall a game behind the Mets in the loss column.

"I hope these hits I'm getting mean I can stay up here a while," said Ralph Garr after his run-scoring pinch single in the 10th inning gave Atlanta a 2-1 victory over Los Angeles and moved the Braves past the Dodgers into third in the West. 1 1/2 games back of San Francisco and a game behind Cincinnati.

In other NL action, Houston trounced San Diego 9-2 to move to within three games of the top in the West, Montreal downed Pittsburgh 4-2 and St. Louis took Philadelphia 6-2.

Willie McCovey's 42nd homer, with Willie Mays aboard with a single, in the seventh snapped a 1-1 tie, and the Giants added four more runs in the seventh on two doubles, a walk and three singles enabled the Giants to replace the Reds in first place.

"All I said was 'Why don't you do your job and check the ball when a complaint is made,'" Rose said of the comment that led to his early exit. But Perry still was around at the end as he boosted his record to 17-12.

The Mets, who have won two fewer games and lost one less than the Cubs, gave Tom Seaver, 21-7, two runs in the first inning. Seaver went on to pitch a five-hitter, and the Mets went on to batter Ferguson Jenkins, 19-13, for five more runs, two coming on Don Clendenon's homer and one on Art Shamsky's homer.

The defeat gave the Cubs their longest losing streak of the season, six straight.

Garr's hit drove in Sonny Jackson, who was hit by a pitch and sacrifice to second, and made Phil Niekro the Braves' first 20-game winner since they moved to Atlanta. He has lost 12.

One of the six hits for the Dodgers, now two games out of first, was Ted Sizemore's lead-off homer in the fourth. Atlanta tied the game and broke a 19-inning scoreless streak in the seventh when Hank Aaron singled and scored on Rico Carty's double.

Jim Wynn's three-run homer, his 30th, sparked a five-run Houston fifth and helped Larry Dierker become the first Astro pitcher ever to win 19 games. Dierker, who has lost 10, pitched a two-hitter until the ninth when Jerry Morales singled with two out and scored on Ivan Murrell's homer.

Pittsburgh, third in the East, 6 1/2 games out, had its four-game winning streak snapped by Montreal as Bob Bailey drove in two runs with a double and a sacrifice fly and Coco Laboy hit a two-run homer to back up Steve Renko's five-hit pitching.

St. Louis got a big game from rookie Jerry DaVannon—two doubles, two RBI and two runs scored—in beating Philadelphia.

Reds Fall To 2nd Place

CINCINNATI (AP)—The San Francisco Giants were back in first place in the West Division of the National League today through the pitching prowess of Gaylord Perry, whatever the Cincinnati Reds think as to whether he throws a spitball.

The Reds were limited to six hits and no earned runs as they were bumped out of the first spot in the division by a 7-4 count. Two errors and a passed ball set up Cincinnati's runs.

Results of Tuesday night's game left the Reds right behind the Giants in the division. Atlanta was third, Los Angeles fourth and Houston fifth—separated by only three games.

The spitball question—a long one insofar as Perry is concerned—caused a near-physical confrontation between Pete Rose, who is trying to win the batting title for the second consecutive time, and the young umpire Andy Olsen.

Rose said he used some bad words to Olsen as he started to his right field position at the beginning of the second inning.

"All I said was 'why don't you do your job and check the ball when a complaint is made. He threw at least six spit balls to me.'"

Olsen then threw Rose out of the game. The Reds players gathered around him by home plate. There was the usual arm gestures and finger pointing. Catcher John Bench and Manager Dave Bristol finally pulled Rose away.

Olsen said afterwards he would not discuss the matter.

"It will be in my report," he said. "That's orders."

Rose later said "I was wrong, but not to the extent of being thrown out of the game."

"This is the only club that gives us this kind of trouble," Clyde King, Giants manager, said. King, a former pitching coach for the Reds, added:

"I got home run-itis," he said. "It is frustrating. I only made two bad pitches and Dick Dietz and Willie McCovey hit them for homers."

Merritt has given up 29 home runs this season.

Cincinnati, which took two of the three game series scored a run in the second, another in the eighth and two in the ninth.

Frisco's first run came on Dietz's tenth homer. McCovey hit his 42nd with Willie Mays on base.

They exploded with four in the eighth on two doubles and three singles with Pedro Ramos doing the serving and ducking.

TIGERS AT CINCINNATI — Circleville High School graduates Tom Fletcher (center) and Ron Bryant (right) discuss the opening game for the University of Cincinnati football team with assistant coach Dave Ritchie and Bill Heinz of Washington C. H. All three gridders are juniors. Fletcher and Bryant were Circleville co-captains in 1966. The Cincinnati-West Virginia University game at Morgantown, W. Va., 1:25 p.m. Saturday will be the first major college game played in the second century of intercollegiate football.

Westfall Opens Defense Of SVC Football Title

Westfall opens the defense of its Scioto Valley Conference football title Friday, hosting Trapp, a senior, and Larry Adams, a 120-pound freshman.

Mark Johnson and Jay Writsel are doubtful starters at halfback, both with knee injuries. The two regulars will be replaced by Steve Sykes, Chuck Steinhauer and Dave Eitel if they are not ready for Friday's action according to first year mentor Bill Vance.

Other starters for the offense will include Rick Phillips at center, Tim Dewey and Ron Greenwood at tackles, Richard Riddle and Tom Hawkins at ends; Greg Bigam at quarterback and Marlin Howard at fullback.

Vance says that Unioto has a tough running game and the Mustang defense must stop the Shermans on the ground. The Shermans under coach Jim Long have looked good in pre-season scrimmages and won their grid opener over Madison South, 28-6.

Westfall fell at the hands of the Berne Union Rockets 40-6, last Friday.

Logan Elm will start Steve Curtis at quarterback and Wirtel Teets at halfback in a switch in the backfield. Curtis, a junior, saw some action at the signal calling slot a year ago, while Teets, a sophomore, has had game experience at halfback.

Also returning to bolster the backfield, which could account for only 41 yards against Amanda - Clearcreek in a 20-0 loss Friday, is Jim Fox. A fullback, Fox had his tonsils removed this summer and has just been given the green light by his physician for action.

Bob McAfee, who started at fullback last week, was slowed visibly by a bum ankle. No changes have been planned along the line where Byron

Cleveland - Dallas Fight Again Looms In The NFL

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — It looks like another Cleveland-Dallas showdown in the Eastern Conference of the National Football League this season, the last before the Browns move over into the American League in the 1970 merger.

The Browns appear to have too much for the St. Louis Cardinals, their main contenders in the Century Division and the Cowboys should have no serious trouble in the Capitol Division.

When the Browns and Cowboys meet in the Cotton Bowl, Sunday, Dec. 28 for the Eastern

Century Division
1. Cleveland.
2. St. Louis
3. New York
4. Pittsburgh

Capitol Division
1. Dallas
2. Washington
3. Philadelphia
4. New Orleans

The Browns have the two-time rushing champ in Leroy Kelly, a solid offensive line, a capable passer in Bill Nelsen and fine receivers despite the injury to Milt Morin. Blanton Collier has a sound, well-disciplined team despite the 34-0 disaster against Baltimore last December. Rookie Ron Johnson, although handicapped by a late start, should make up for the loss of retired Ernie Green.

The Cardinals suffered a severe setback when Chuck La-tourette, their excellent punter and kick return specialist had to undergo knee surgery in August. Jackie Smith and John Gilliam obtained from New Orleans, are fine targets for Charley Johnson or Jim Hart who has been out of action with a broken finger.

New York, has been slow coming around due to injuries to the offensive line. With Tucker Frederickson rounding into form and Allie Sherman's shuffle of Freeman White and Aaron Thomas beginning to work out, the club has the attack to make trouble. Fran Tarkenton's talents will be wasted unless the defense manages to rush the enemy passer.

Pittsburgh's last year in the old NFL (They shift to the AFL division in 1970 with Cleveland and Baltimore) looks like another cellar finish although new coach Chuck Noll expects improvement. Rookie Joe Greene should help the defense that allowed 397 points last year.

Despite the retirements of Don Meredith and Don Perkins, the Cowboys seem to have too much for the opposition in the Coastal Division. Craig Morton gets his big chance and Calvin Hill, the rookie from Yale, has been a pleasant surprise although the injury to Dan Reeves hurts.

Ryan Becomes Grid Has - Been

By SHEILA MORAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Frank Ryan, who rose to superstar and fell to bench-warmer during seven years with the Cleveland Browns, appeared to be at the end of the line today.

The 33-year-old quarterback, who five years ago guided the Browns to the National Football League championship, was waived by the club Monday and is now free to negotiate with any club that might be interested since no NFL club claimed him.

The Browns made the announcement Tuesday as they cut their roster to 44 men.

The part-time college professor who holds a Ph.D in math described his experiences on the Browns bench last year as frustrating, "but not as frustrating as people might think."

"It was frustrating only when we were losing," he said. "Then I felt I could have helped."

But the Browns didn't think so. They thought Bill Nelsen was better.

Ryan was sidelined after the third game last year and saw only token action. He finished with 66 passes, 31 completions, 639 yards and seven touchdowns, the lowest totals since his first pro season with Los Angeles in 1958.

But he leaves the Browns a legacy, which includes 11 club records. He led the Browns to two Eastern Conference titles and a Century Division crown in five years as starting quarterback. He also appeared in three Pro Bowl games and led the East to upset victories in 1966 and 1967.

It was in 1967 that his luck turned. He performed courageously throughout that season despite a wide range of ailments. In the winter of 1967 he had surgery to repair torn muscles, stretched ligaments and scar tissue in his right elbow.

Ryan was waived along with running back Charley Harraway who was claimed by the NFL Washington Redskins. Harraway finished last season as the Browns second leading rusher.

The Redskins dropped two veteran starters in their offensive line. They cut guard John Wooten and traded rookie Mitch Johnson to the Los Angeles Rams in exchange for two future draft choices. Washington also cut running back Randy Schultz, who had been obtained in a trade this summer with New Orleans, and dropped Leon Crenshaw, a free agent. The moves trimmed the squad to this week's 44-man league limit.

NFL clubs make their final no-recall cuts to 40 Sept. 15. American Football League clubs made their final, no-recall cuts to 40 Monday.

Wooten, 32, was a standout blocker for Jim Brown and Lesley Kelley at Cleveland, where he played nine years before coming to Washington last year.

The NFL Detroit Lions dropped five players—guard Jim Anderson, defensive ends Bob Bergum, Dave Daniels and Lew Kamanu, and linebacker Dave Weidman.

The NFL Baltimore Colts dropped one man below this week's limit in two cuts announced Tuesday. Placed on waivers were defensive tackle Jim Moyland of Texas Tech and running back Dan Berry of California.

The San Diego Chargers of the AFL waived tight end Craig Cotton, wide receiver Larry Rentz, cornerback Mack Lamb and running back Keith Lincoln, listed as injured.

Veteran safetyman Roger Bird was placed on injured waivers by the AFL Oakland Raiders.

The AFL Buffalo Bills waived safety Hagood Clarke, linebacker Marty Schottelheimer, defensive end Tom Day and split end Willie Grate.

Giants, Cubs Are National League Division Leaders

By ED SCHUYLER JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

Spitball charges, chants of "goodbye Leo," and a winning single by a kid who wants to stay in the big time. That's the good old National League for you.

En route to the outfield in the second inning Tuesday night, Cincinnati's Pete Rose complained to umpire Andy Olsen that Gaylord Perry was throwing spitballs. Out of the game went Rose, seven innings later down went the Reds, 7-4, to San Francisco, and back into first in the NL West went the Giants.

Manager Leo Durocher sat in a Shea Stadium dugout, listened to chants of "Goodbye Leo, Goodbye Leo, we're glad to see you go" and watched his Chicago Cubs lose to New York 7-1, have their NL East lead cut to one-half game and actually fall a game behind the Mets in the loss column.

"I hope these hits I'm getting mean I can stay up here a while," said Ralph Garr after his run-scoring pinch single in the 10th inning gave Atlanta a 2-1 victory over Los Angeles and moved the Braves past the Dodgers into third in the West. 1 1/2 games back of San Francisco and a game behind Cincinnati.

In other NL action, Houston trounced San Diego 9-2 to move to within three games of the top in the West, Montreal downed Pittsburgh 4-2 and St. Louis took Philadelphia 6-2.

Willie McCovey's 42nd homer, with Willie Mays aboard with a single, in the seventh snapped a 1-1 tie, and the Giants added four more runs in the seventh on two doubles, a walk and three singles enabled the Giants to replace the Reds in first place.

"All I said was 'Why don't you do your job and check the ball when a complaint is made,'" Rose said of the comment that led to his early exit. But Perry still was around at the end as he boosted his record to 17-12.

The Mets, who have won two fewer games and lost one less than the Cubs, gave Tom Seaver, 21-7, two runs in the first inning. Seaver went on to pitch a five-hitter, and the Mets went on to batter Ferguson Jenkins, 19-13, for five more runs, two coming on Don Clendenon's homer and one on Art Shamsky's homer.

The defeat gave the Cubs their longest losing streak of the season, six straight. Garr's hit drove in Sonny Jackson, who was hit by a pitch and sacrifice to second, and made Phil Niekro the Braves' first 20-game winner since they moved to Atlanta. He has lost 12.

One of the six hits for the Dodgers, now two games out of first, was Ted Sizemore's lead-off homer in the fourth. Atlanta tied the game and broke a 19-inning scoreless streak in the seventh when Hank Aaron singled and scored on Rico Carty's double.

Jim Wyn's three-run homer, his 30th, sparked a five-run Houston fifth and helped Larry Dierker become the first Astro pitcher ever to win 19 games. Dierker, who has lost 10, pitched a two-hitter until the ninth when Jerry Morales singled with two out and scored on Ivan Murrell's homer.

Pittsburgh, third in the East, 6 1/2 games out, had its four-game winning streak snapped by Montreal as Bob Bailey drove in two runs with a double and a sacrifice fly and Coco Laboy hit a two-run homer to back up Steve Renko's five-hit pitching.

St. Louis got a big game from rookie Jerry DaVannon—two doubles, two RBI and two runs scored—in beating Philadelphia.

Reds Fall To 2nd Place

CINCINNATI (AP)—The San Francisco Giants were back in first place in the West Division of the National League today through the pitching prowess of Gaylord Perry, whatever the Cincinnati Reds think as to whether he throws a spitball.

The Reds were limited to six hits and no earned runs as they were bumped out of the first spot in the division by a 7-4 count. Two errors and a passed ball set up Cincinnati's runs.

Westfall Opens Defense Of SVC Football Title

Westfall opens the defense of its Scioto Valley Conference football title Friday, hosting Unioto, with four varsity starters on the disabled list.

Logan Elm coach Mark Albright will take his Braves with a revamped backfield, to Cardington in Morrow County.

Both starting guards and both starting halfbacks for the Mustangs are injured. Steve Nevil and Roger Peart are definitely out and will be replaced at guard by Lou Trapp, a senior, and Larry Adams, a 120-pound freshman.

Mark Johnson and Jay Writsel are doubtful starters at halfback, both with knee injuries. The two regulars will be replaced by Steve Sykes, Chuck Steinhauser and Dave Eitel if they are not ready for Friday's action according to first year mentor Bill Vance.

Other starters for the defense will include Rick Phillips at center, Tim Dewey and Ron Greenwood at tackles, Richard Riddle and Tom Hawkins at ends; Greg Bigam at quarterback and Marlin Howard at fullback.

Vance says that Unioto has a tough running game and a Mustang defense must stop the Shermans on the ground. The Shermans under coach Jim Long have looked good in pre-season scrimmages and won their grid opener over Madison South, 28-6.

Westfall fell at the hands of the Berne Union Rockets 40-6, last Friday.

Logan Elm will start Steve Curtis at quarterback and Wirtle Teets at halfback in a switch in the backfield. Curtis, a junior, saw some action at the signal calling slot a year ago, while Teets, a sophomore, has had game experience at halfback.

Also returning to bolster the backfield, which could account for only 41 yards against Amanda - Clearcreek in a 20-0 loss Friday, is Jim Fox. A fullback, Fox has his tonsils removed this summer and has just been given the green light by his physician for action.

Bob McAfee, who started at fullback last week, was slowed visibly by a bum ankle. No changes have been planned along the line where Byron (Continued on Page 19)

Championships Slated At Atomic Oval

CHILLICOTHE — Two nights of racing, both of them special events and with guaranteed purses in the total amount of $6,250, are on the remaining schedule for Atomic Speedway.

The season championship for both the super-modified and hobby stocks classes will be held Saturday night and the second annual Tri-State Invitational for super-modifieds exclusively will be staged on the following Friday night, Sept. 19.

The winner of the 100-lap non-stop feature for the 20 fastest cars will receive $1,000 out of the $3,500 to be won by the drivers at the Tri-State Invitational.

In case of rain the season championship would be held on Sept. 27, or the Tri-State Invitational would be Sept. 20.

Both races will start at 8 p.m., with time trials for the season championship opening at 7 p.m. and for the Tri-State Invitational at 6:30.

Atomic Speedway, completing its 14th season under sponsorship of the Chillicothe Stock Car Racing Association, is 12 miles south of Chillicothe on Blaine Highway, west of Route 23 at Alma.

Orioles Top Senators, 6-1 And 3-2; Magic Number 6

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mike Cuellar is rapidly turning Billy Hunter into a prophet and Dave McNally into a reminiscer.

Cuellar, Baltimore's 21-game winner, ran his record to 11-1 since the All-Star Game by six-hitting Washington 6-1 Tuesday in the opener of a two-night doubleheader. The Orioles also took the nightcap 3-2 and reduced their magic number for clinching the American League East to six over Detroit's defending world champion Tigers.

"Mike," coach Hunter told Cuellar earlier this season when the Cuban left-hander was bemoaning the fact that his earned run average was low but his won-lost record just so-so, "after the All-Star break it'll be your turn. From there on, you'll be 11-2."

Cuellar's hot streak also is bringing back memories of the 14-2 mark posted by fellow lefty McNally after the 1968 All-Star break.

Elsewhere in the AL, Minnesota outslugged California 11-7 and boosted its West Division lead to 9½ games over Oakland, which lost to Kansas City 2-1.

Boston tripped Cleveland 3-1 and Detroit blanked the New York Yankees 2-0 while the Chicago White Sox and Seattle were not scheduled.

Cuellar, acquired in an inter-league trade with Houston last winter, was only 10-9 at the All-Star break. Then came consecutive victories over Chicago, Kansas City, Minnesota, Seattle and California before Oakland beat him 4-2 on Aug. 23. Since then he's knocked off Seattle, California, Detroit and Washington.

Another prophet is Baltimore super-scout Jim Russo. "Listen," he said when Cuellar was having his early won-lost troubles, "you haven't really seen Cuellar yet. This guy is more than a pitcher. He's an artist. He has five pitches and complete command of them all."

Oakland Liked To Win AL Grid Title This Year

By RON RAPOPORT

OAKLAND (AP) — Two years ago, when the Oakland Raiders won the American Football League title, they were as good a defensive team as there was in football. They led the league in 10 statistical departments.

Last year, when the Raiders won the AFL's Western Division title and nearly repeated as league champs, they were the top offensive team in football, rolling up more yards and scoring more points than any team in either league.

This year, they could put it all together.

Little has changed on the Raiders' offense and a couple of brilliant defenders who were injured last year are back at full strength. The combination makes the Raiders the team to beat in the Western Division again.

Tom Keating, All-League defensive tackle who missed all of last season with a leg injury, is back as is Bill Laskey, a top-flight linebacker who also was hurt in 1968.

If there are any question marks on the defense, they could be the ones surrounding the availability of star cornerback Kent McCloughan and tackle Dan Birdwell, both of whom are recovering from off-season operations.

No such problems trouble the CHICAGO (AP) — It almost appears a cinch for Ohio State to repeat as the Big Ten football champion this season and that in itself should be cause for concern.

Led by Woody Hayes, dean of Big Ten coaches who is now in his 19th season at the Buckeye helm, Ohio State counts only four losses from its first 22 players last season.

Last season is when the Buckeyes went through an undefeated Big Ten campaign, capped national honors and creamed Southern Cal and O.J. Simpson 27-16 in the Rose Bowl.

Coach Duffy Daugherty has 32 lettermen returning including 14 regulars and some of the finest sophomore talent in the country. Bill Triplett will be at the Spartan controls and an opening victory over Ohio State could ignite a championship season.

The Spartans had a great spring practice and if the boys hit this fall like they did last spring, watch out.

Indiana is being pegged for the Rose Bowl by most observers who pick Ohio State first. The Hoosiers have that bursting offense led by Harry Gonso, John Isenbarger and Jade Butcher who now are seniors.

Mike Phipps of Purdue is also a senior and he'll have to guide a Boilermaker offense without the running skills of LeRoy Keyes and Perry Williams. But the Boilermakers again figure to be powerful at defense and you still can't lose unless the other team scores.

Michigan will be operating under the Big Ten's only rookie coach, Bo Schembechler, from Miami of Ohio. Bo starts without the services of quarterback Dennis Brown and running back Ron Johnson—the heart of the Wolverine attack last season.

Minnesota has a strong backfield led by the running of Jim Carter and Barry Mayer and the passing of Phil Hagen. After that the Gophers may be in trouble because of a lack of experience in both lines. It was 10 years ago that the Gophers finished last in the Big Ten and came back the following season to tie for the title and gain a Rose Bowl bid.

Illinois, Northwestern and Wisconsin all hope to improve but none figures to contend for either the title or the Rose Bowl bid.

Sophomore Steve Livas will quarterback the Illini and an other half dozen sophomores are expected to win starting roles.

Northwestern will be two deep at quarterback, split end and flanker but there are problems in the offensive line and at defensive ends. A rugged schedule again will be Wildcats' undoing.

Wisconsin hasn't won a game in two years and the Badgers hope to amend that. The Badgers will have some new help in halfback Greg Johnson and fullbacks Alan Thompson and Larry Mialik.

Orioles Top Senators, 6-1 And 3-2; Magic Number 6

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

Mike Cuellar is rapidly turning Billy Hunter into a prophet and Dave McNally into a reminder.

Cuellar, Baltimore's 21-game winner, ran his record to 11-1 since the All-Star Game by six-hitting Washington 6-1 Tuesday in the opener of a two-night doubleheader. The Orioles also took the nightcap 3-2 and reduced their magic number for clinching the American League East to six over Detroit's defending world champion Tigers.

"Mike," coach Hunter told Cuellar earlier this season when the Cuban left-hander was bemoaning the fact that his earned run average was low but his won-lost record just so-so, "after the All-Star break it'll be your turn. From there on, you'll be 11-2."

Cuellar's hot streak also is bringing back memories of the 14-2 mark posted by fellow lefty McNally after the 1968 All-Star break.

Elsewhere in the AL, Minnesota outslugged California 11-7 and boosted its West Division lead to 9½ games over Oakland, which lost to Kansas City 2-1.

Boston tripped Cleveland 3-1 and Detroit blanked the New York Yankees 2-0 while the Chicago White Sox and Seattle were not scheduled.

Cuellar, acquired in an inter-league trade with Houston last winter, was only 10-9 at the All-Star break. Then came consecutive victories over Chicago, Kansas City, Minnesota, Seattle and California before Oakland beat him 4-2 on Aug. 23. Since then he's knocked off Seattle, California, Detroit and Washington.

Another prophet is Baltimore super-scout Jim Russo. "Listen," he said when Cuellar was having his early won-lost troubles, "you haven't really seen Cuellar yet. This guy is more than a pitcher. He's an artist. He has five pitches and complete command of them all."

Vince Lombardi's first year as head man at Washington hinges on Sonny Jurgensen and the fine pass receivers. They could challenge the Cowboys if Morton doesn't come through.

The Eagles have a new owner, a new general manager and a new coach and, unfortunately have traded away Bob Brown, bulwark of the offensive line. Coach Jerry Williams, brought down from Canada as successor to Joe Kuharich, needs another Tom Woodeschick in the backfield.

Tom Fears' New Orleans Saints could move up a peg to third place if all the experiments work out. The Saints are tough but lack depth to play consistently all year. Rookie quarterback Edd Hargett may be a sleeper.

About the only thing the Buckeyes have going against them is a possible lack of incentive since they cannot return to the Rose Bowl because of the Big Ten's no-repeat rule.

Then, too, there is Michigan State. The Spartans had a 5-5 record in 1968 but they managed to upset Notre Dame 21-17 and lost by a narrow 25-20

ON defense, Brad Barr and Sykes will man the end slots, Evans and Younkin the tackles, Dean and Kempton the guards, Ankrum and Robey are the linebackers, Teets and Weaver the halfbacks and Curtis the safety.

Cardington is 42 miles north of Columbus. A year ago the Braves had a home game with Miller scheduled for Friday. But Miller backed out and Logan Elm was left with an open date.

Their were no teams in the area with open dates for away games and the closest school willing to split a game with the Braves was Cardington.

Coach Albright suggests this route to Cardington for Braves fans who plan to make the trek:

North on Interstate 71 to the Mt. Gilead-Sunbury exit. From there north on Route 61 through Fulton to Route 529. Turn left on 529 to Cardington.

Oakland Liked To Win AL Grid Title This Year

Associated Press Sports Writer
OAKLAND (AP) — Two years ago, when the Oakland Raiders won the American Football League title, they were as good a defensive team as there was in football. They led the league in 10 statistical departments.

Last year, when the Raiders won the AFL's Western Division title and nearly repeated as league champs, they were the top offensive team in football, rolling up more yards and scoring more points than any team in either league.

This year, they could put it all together.

Little has changed on the Raiders' offense and a couple of brilliant defenders who were injured last year are back at full strength. The combination makes the Raiders the team to beat in the Western Division again.

Tom Keating, All-League defensive tackle who missed all of last season with a leg injury, is back as is Bill Laskey, a top-flight linebacker who also was hurt in 1968.

If there are any question marks on the defense, they could be the ones surrounding the availability of star cornerback Kent McCloughan and tackle Dan Birdwell, both of whom are recovering from off-season operations.

No such problems trouble the offense. Daryle Lamonica, second in the AFL in passing last year, returns at quarterback and his wide receivers, Fred Biletnikoff and Warren Wells, are as good a 1-2 punch as there is in football.

Hewitt Dixon and Pete Banaszak are strong bulldozing runners and Charlie Smith has great breakaway speed. Billy Cannon is an experienced, dependable tight end.

On the offensive line, Jim Otto at center, Gene Upshaw and Jim Harvey at the guards and Bob Siviuh and Harry Schuh at the tackles form a crew that can more than take care of its own.

The defensive line is another dependable, solid group even without Birdwell. Ends Ben Davidson and Ike Lassiter and tackles Carleton Oats and Keating will be the starters.

Dan Connors and Gus Otto team with Laskey at the linebackers with second-year man Chip Oliver a capable substitute.

George Atkinson and Willie Brown are at the corners while the AFL's top interceptor of 1968, Dave Grayson, is the No. 1 safety.

The other safety job normally would be Roger Bird's without question, but he too has had some preseason injury problems and Baylor rookie Jackie Allen has been filling in for him.

Other top rookies are Syracuse defensive lineman Art Thoms, Stanford offensive guard George Buehler, and Catawba wide receiver Drew Buie.

And George Blanda, now nearing 42, still can perform well behind Lamonica at quarterback as well as provide extra points and field goals.

Raiders At A Glance
1968 finish — First in the American Football League's Western Conference.

1968 record—21-2.

Probable 1969 finish—First in the West and a challenger to go all the way to the Super Bowl. Team's strong points—Potent offense, powerful defense, great poise.

Team's weaknesses—Few and far between. Some injury problems could slow it up and there is some lack of depth on defense.

Best rookies—Art Thoms, Syracuse defensive lineman; George Buehler, Stanford offensive lineman; Jackie Allen, Baylor defensive back; Drew Buie, Catawba wide receiver.

Vancouver Given Crack At Franchise
MONTREAL (AP) — Vancouver, waiting nearly five years for a team in the National Hockey League, gets its chance to bid for a franchise this week.

NHL President Clarence Campbell said Tuesday.

Campbell said final applications by groups wanting franchises for the 1970-71 season may be tendered this week and Vancouver has the "first right of refusal."

2 Resignations, Hires 3

Teachers and buses were the primary topics under discussion at the Circleville School Board meeting Tuesday evening.

The resignation of two teachers and employment of three were accepted by the members.

Resigning their positions were Mable Cutliff, junior high guidance counselor and Andrew Maze, high school special education instructor.

Hired for the 1969-70 school year were Ronald B. Hoodin, high school special education; Barbara Taylor, high school librarian and Mrs. John Jenkins, half time junior high cafeteria cook.

SUBSTITUTES accepted on the elementary level were Marie Gerhardt, Delores Julian, Linda Litter and Hazel Steele.

Delores Julian and Margaret Mattinson were accepted as substitutes on the secondary school level.

JoAnn Hinton was hired by the board members as a full time bus driver. Hired as substitutes were Roy Seibel and Carl Morris.

The board considered the possibility of installing citizen band units in school buses. An estimate received for 8 units and antennas was approximately $500 with installation provided free of charge. The units were suggested to speed up repair of bus breakdowns and to keep track of late buses. The board decided to investigate further and submit a more detailed report.

In other action, the board approved a request of the Roundtown Players to use the junior high building on Sept. 27.

Although the results of the 1968-69 Adult Basic Education Classes were discouraging, it was decided that program should be given more time before any results be considered definitely.

UNDER the Disadvantaged Pupil Program approved by the board, Trudy Yates and Carolyn Herel were recommended for positions as library aides for four elementary schools. No suggestions were made for the high school library secretary.

Two half-time elementary secretaries, Louise Spain and Joyce Alkire, were recommended. Barbara Frazier was suggested as half-time junior high secretary.

Three study hall monitors will be provided for under the program. Marion Fischer and Jean Grant received board approval for the job. One other monitor is to be provided under the Title I program.

Transportation of seven deaf students from the area was approved at a cost of $23 a day. The position has been given to John Robinson. Part of these expenses will be reimbursed at the end of the year by the state.

The board also authorized participation in the P. L. 87-9 Program, providing aid to schools enrolling children whose parents work on approved government property.

In final action, Tom Elsea and Dale DeLong were appointed as representatives of the Board of Education to the newly organized Recreation Board approved by the City Council.

House Studies Amendment To Change Presidential Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House launches a historic debate today on proposals to change the 182-year-old constitutional provision for the election of presidents.

Several days of discussion and voting are in prospect and final action is not expected until next Wednesday.

Three alternative plans will be put before the House, but only one appears to have a chance of winning the two-thirds majority required for passage of a constitutional amendment.

It would eliminate the present electoral vote system and provide for direct popular election of the president. If no candidate got 40 per cent of the popular vote, a runoff election would be held between the top two contenders.

The proposal, which has the backing of House leaders of both parties, was given a big boost when the Republican Policy Committee strongly endorsed it Tuesday.

The committee lays down the party line on major issues and House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford predicted at least two-thirds of the Republicans in the House would vote for the direct election amendment on final passage.

The major plans to be offered in addition to direct election are:

—The district plan, which allows one electoral vote to the candidate carrying a congressional district and two to the candidate carrying the state.

—The proportional plan, which divides a state's electoral votes among the candidates in the same proportion as their popular vote.

Before endorsing the direct election plan by voice vote, the policy committee rejected both alternatives. In doing so, it rebuffed President Nixon, who urged Congress to adopt the proportional approach, although no specific version of it.

Nixon, however, has promised to work for ratification of whatever plan Congress produces.

A constitutional amendment must pass both the House and Senate by a two-thirds majority, then be ratified by three-fourths of the states.

Disturbance Closes School In Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Stivers High School was closed today in efforts to ward off further racial disturbances.

Dr. Wayne Carle, school superintendent, ordered the school's 1,000 students to remain away from classes, but teachers were to report to the building as usual.

Police were called to the predominantly white school Tuesday afternoon to half racial disturbances.

Several arrests were made, among those arrested was Art Thomas, project director of the Dayton Model Cities educational component. He was charged with disorderly conduct and abusing a policeman.

Carle earlier relieved Thomas, a militant Negro, from performing any duties with the school. It also prohibited him from entering any school.

Tuesday morning parents of some Negro students complained to school officials that their children were being abused by white students.

At Roth High School, which is predominantly Negro, parents of white students complained Tuesday that their children were being abused by blacks. There were no reported troubles at Roth.

Carle said Stiver would be closed today only. He said the day "will be used to inform parents of precautionary means being taken and to reinforce procedures to insure" the safety of all pupils.

Milk Marketing Hearing Open

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The second day of a federal hearing on milk marketing for Eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania will be held here today.

The hearing opened Tuesday with discussion centering on increasing the marketing area to include the Cleveland area, according to hearing chairman Herbert Perlman.

The hearing here is part of a national schedule of hearings in which matters such as possible milk price increases will be discussed. Price increases were not discussed Tuesday, according to Perlman, who said that any decision to raise prices would take several weeks to approve.

Moon . . .

The rocks from Tranquility Base are like nothing ever examined on earth.

They contain many of the elements with high boiling points, such as titanium, zirconium and chromium, and very little of the elements with low boiling points, such as lead, potassium and sodium.

"This gives you a rock that's unlike any meteorites, unlike any earth rock of igneous origin," said Brett. "It's just a very oddball type of rock. We don't really understand how it formed at all."

Brett and the other members of the team have pieced together this story of the moon:

—The moon is believed to have been formed 4.5 billion years ago at the same time as the earth and the rest of the solar system.

—During the next 500 million years, just a short period in geological time, the moon heated up and became molten. It then cooled, with the final volcanic action ending between 2.3 billion and 3.7 billion years ago. The moon became a lifeless tombstone, frozen at an early age in its development and preserved.

—During the brief period of activity, "something hitting the moon" formed the vast flat plains which early moon mappers called "mares" or seas. These are the areas which appear darkest to man gazing at the moon from earth.

—Volcanic action filled in the mares with lava and dust.

—Unprotected by an atmosphere that would shield its surface, the moon was bombarded by meteoroids that shaped its features.

—Chunks of bedrock of the moon were blasted from far beneath its surface by the collision of small bits of this rock landed near the Tranquility Base landing site of Apollo 11 and remained there for 150 million years.

—Meteorites continue to pepper the surface of the moon. The small chunks of material collide with such force that the shock melts surface material, turning part of it into glass. About 50 per cent of the dust in the Sea of Tranquility is glass.

Newsman Tells Of Israeli Drive

"All hell broke loose," Eli

Landau of the newspaper Maariv continued. "The tanks were firing away at all targets and the road we were following was lined on both sides with burning vehicles of all descriptions, destroyed buildings and shot-up positions."

"By daylight we found ourselves traveling on a broad road under a cliff overhang rising 60 to 70 yards above us."

"That first stretch was a pretty tense time for us. We never knew what we might meet beyond the next rise or twist in the road."

"But a good many vehicles that came our way must have mistaken us for somebody else. They even made way for us, edging over onto the road margins. They made rather good targets . . ."

"The units forged ahead, blowing up segments of the road behind them."

"There was increasing opposition as the units approached their main target areas at Ras Abu Darg and Ras Za'Faran, in the southernmost part of the armored column's sweep."

"They demolished 12 guardhouses en route. Of these, eight were manned and put up opposition."

"At one stage, three Egyptian armored troop carriers confronted the fast-advancing column and put up a fight, but the men inside spilled out and fled as soon as the first Israeli shot came whistling over."

"Other Egyptians took refuge in the low hillocks overlooking the road and peppered the convoy."

"Grenades and satchels of explosives were tossed into Egyptian positions along the road as the column rolled forward."

"At Ras Abu Darg, the Egyptians had positioned an antitank gun atop a lighthouse."

"The most stupid positioning of an antitank gun that I ever saw," said the commander of our task force.

"The naval radar unit, the lighthouse, four concrete structures and 30 gun emplacements were all blown up here. At least 20 Egyptians were killed in the fighting at this place."

"But we didn't check the house and structures we shot at, and there must have been many more dead, task force commander added."

"All the time the tanks kept shooting like mad. The Egyptians did not have time to deploy their heavy weapons and shot back mainly with machine guns and light automatic weapons."

"Meanwhile, the air force kept up close ground support, often strafing positions only a few hundred yards ahead of the advancing columns."

"At one point, the planes swooped down on a cluster of seven tanks, at least one of which was knocked out."

"The Israelis were on the alert for reinforcements, but the Egyptians never turned up."

"The operation ended as the ground force regrouped at the pre-assigned evacuation points and returned to the Israeli-held side of the Gulf of Suez with all its personnel and equipment intact."

Welfare Change Would Save Ohio $85 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes said Tuesday his proposal to transfer the aged, blind and disabled from welfare rolls to Social Security would save Ohio $85 million a year.

The proposal, endorsed by the National Governors Conference, would mean an immediate benefit to 55,000 Ohioans, according to Rhodes.

"If they were under Social Security their payments could more readily be adjusted to account for the rising cost in living," he said.

The governor said placing the three categories under the federal program would leave Aid to Dependent Children as the only welfare program administered by the state.

LAUGH TIME—The crew of Apollo 12, scheduled to leave Cape Kennedy Nov. 14 on the second U.S. Moon landing mission, laughs it up as their 363-foot Saturn 5 rocket is rolled toward its launch pad. They are (from left) Alan Bean, Lunar Module pilot; Richard Gordon, Command Module pilot, and Charles Conrad, Apollo commander.

The committee lays down the party line on major issues and House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford predicted at least two-thirds of the Republicans in the House would vote for the direct election amendment on final passage.

The major plans to be offered in addition to direct election are:

—The district plan, which allots one electoral vote to the candidate carrying a congressional district and two to the candidate carrying the state.

—The proportional plan, which divides a state's electoral votes among the candidates in the same proportion as their popular vote.

Before endorsing the direct election plan by voice vote, the policy committee rejected both alternatives. In doing so, it rebuffed President Nixon, who urged Congress to adopt the proportional approach, although no specific version of it.

Nixon, however, has promised to work for ratification of whatever plan Congress produces.

A constitutional amendment must pass both the House and Senate by a two-thirds majority, then be ratified by three-fourths of the states.

Disturbance Closes School In Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Stivers High School was closed today in efforts to ward off further racial disturbances.

Dr. Wayne Carle, school superintendent, ordered the school's 1,000 students to remain away from classes, but teachers were to report to the building as usual.

Police were called to the predominantly white school Tuesday afternoon to half racial disturbances.

Several arrests were made, among those arrested was Art Thomas, project director of the Dayton Model Cities educational component. He was charged with disorderly conduct and abusing a policeman.

Carle earlier relieved Thomas, a militant Negro, from performing any duties with the school. It also prohibited him from entering any school.

Tuesday morning parents of some Negro students complained to school officials that their children were being abused by white students.

At Roth High School, which is predominantly Negro, parents of white students complained Tuesday that their children were being abused by blacks. There were no reported troubles at Roth.

Carle said Stiver would be closed today only. He said the day "will be used to inform parents of precautionary means being taken and to reinforce procedures to insure" the safety of all pupils.

Milk Marketing Hearing Open

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The second day of a federal hearing on milk marketing for Eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania will be held here today.

The hearing opened Tuesday with discussion centering on increasing the marketing area to include the Cleveland area, according to hearing chairman Herbert Perlman.

The hearing here is part of a national schedule of hearings in which matters such as possible milk price increases will be discussed. Price increases were not discussed Tuesday, according to Perlman, who said that any decision to raise prices would take several weeks to approve.

Moon . . .

The rocks from Tranquility Base are like nothing ever examined on earth.

They contain many of the elements with high boiling points, such as titanium, zirconium and chromium, and very little of the elements with low boiling points, such as lead, potassium and sodium.

"This gives you a rock that's unlike any meteorites, unlike any earth rock of igneous origin," said Brett. "It's just a very oddball type of rock. We don't really understand how it formed at all."

Brett and the other members of the team have pieced together this story of the moon:

—The moon is believed to have been formed 4.5 billion years ago at the same time as the earth and the rest of the solar system.

—During the next 500 million years, just a short period in geological time, the moon heated up and became molten. It then cooled, with the final volcanic action ending between 2.3 billion and 3.7 billion years ago. The moon became a lifeless tombstone, frozen at an early age in its development and preserved.

—During the brief period of activity, "something hitting the moon" formed the vast flat plains which early moon mappers called "mares" or seas. These are the areas which appear darkest to man gazing at the moon from earth.

—Volcanic action filled in the mares with lava and dust.

—Unprotected by an atmosphere that would shield its surface, the moon was bombarded by meteoroids that shaped its features.

—Chunks of bedrock of the moon were blasted from far beneath its surface by the collision of small bits of this rock landed near the Tranquility Base landing site of Apollo 11 and remained there for 150 million years.

—Meteorites continue to pepper the surface of the moon. The small chunks of material collide with such force that the shock melts surface material, turning part of it into glass. About 50 per cent of the dust in the Sea of Tranquility is glass.

Newsman Tells Of Israeli Drive

TEL AVIV (AP) — "One of the first vehicles we encountered after our tank force left the beach was a truck loaded with cotton—a single shot turned it into a blazing pyre," wrote the only newsman taken along on Israel's strike into Egypt Tuesday.

"All hell broke loose," Eli

Landau of the newspaper Maariv continued. "The tanks were firing away at all targets and the road we were following was lined on both sides with burning vehicles of all descriptions, destroyed buildings and shot-up positions."

"By daylight we found ourselves traveling on a broad road under a cliff overhang rising 60 to 70 yards above us."

"That first stretch was a pretty tense time for us. We never knew what we might meet beyond the next rise or twist in the road."

"But a good many vehicles that came our way must have mistaken us for somebody else. They even made way for us, edging over onto the road margins. They made rather good targets . . ."

"The units forged ahead, blowing up segments of the road behind them."

"There was increasing opposition as the units approached their main target areas at Ras Abu Dareg and Ras Za'Farán, in the southernmost part of the armored column's sweep."

"They demolished 12 guard-houses en route. Of these, eight were manned and put up opposition."

"At one stage, three Egyptian armored troop carriers confronted the fast-advancing column and put up a fight, but the men inside spilled out and fled as soon as the first Israeli shot came whistling over."

"Other Egyptians took refuge in the low hillocks overlooking the road and peppered the convoy."

"Grenades and satchels of explosives were tossed into Egyptian positions along the road as the column rolled forward."

"At Ras Abu Dareg, the Egyptians had positioned an antitank gun atop a lighthouse."

"The most stupid positioning of an antitank gun that I ever saw," said the commander of our task force.

"The naval radar unit, the lighthouse, four concrete structures and 30 gun emplacements were all blown up here. At least 20 Egyptians were killed in the fighting at this place."

"But we didn't check the house and structures we shot at, and there must have been many more dead, tank force commander added."

"All the time the tanks kept shooting like mad. The Egyptians did not have time to deploy their heavy weapons and shot back mainly with machine guns and light automatic weapons."

"Meanwhile, the air force kept up close ground support, often strafing positions only a few hundred yards ahead of the advancing columns."

"At one point, the planes swooped down on a cluster of seven tanks, at least one of which was knocked out."

"The Israelis were on the alert for reinforcements, but the Egyptians never turned up."

"The operation ended as the ground force regrouped at the pre-assigned evacuation points and returned to the Israeli-held side of the Gulf of Suez with all its personnel and equipment intact."

Welfare Change Would Save Ohio $85 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes said Tuesday his proposal to transfer the aged, blind and disabled from welfare rolls to Social Security would save Ohio $85 million a year.

The proposal, endorsed by the National Governors Conference, would mean an immediate benefit to 55,000 Ohioans, according to Rhodes.

"If they were under Social Security their payments could more readily be adjusted to account for the rising cost in living," he said.

The governor said placing the three categories under the federal program would leave Aid to Dependent Children as the only welfare program administered by the state.

LAUGH TIME—The crew of Apollo 12, scheduled to leave Cape Kennedy Nov. 14 on the second U.S. Moon landing mission, laughs it up as their 363-foot Saturn 5 rocket is rolled toward its launch pad. They are (from left) Alan Bean, Lunar Module pilot; Richard Gordon, Command Module pilot, and Charles Conrad, Apollo commander.
